555 Killed In Weekend Road Deaths

Final Count Could Set New High For Toll On Labor Day

By The Associated Press

The nation's traffic deaths over the extended Labor Day weekend, with a rash of accidents causing multiple fatalities, appeared headed to near the record toll of 557 for the holiday.

With the belated reports expected to boost the final total, the count for the 78-hour period which ended at midnight showed 555 persons killed in traffic accidents. The record high for a Labor Day weekend was set in 1963. Last year's total was 531.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 500 to 600 persons might lose their lives in traffic accidents during the holiday period which started at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday. A spokesman said the heavy toll Monday and late reports of deaths could set a record toll.

In other accidents over the weekend, 25 persons lost their lives in boating mishaps and 41 persons drowned for an over-all total of 604.

The nation's worst accident during the holiday period killed seven persons, all under 21, near Madison, Wis., Sunday. Four persons, also under 21, died in a two-car crash near Lake Geneva, Wis., Monday for a total of 17 killed in four accidents in Wisconsin over the weekend.

Five persons lost their lives in a two-car crash in Philadelphia Monday, the fourth multiple fatality accident in Pennsylvania during the holiday period. Eleven persons died in two crashes in Texas, including a father and his four children in a car-train crash near Raymondville.

Florida Fears Storm

Hurricane Betsy Hits Bahamas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy sat astride the world-famed resort city of Nassau today, lashing it with ferocious winds and tides, and south Floridans resigned themselves to at least 36 more hours of fear and anxiety.

A communications blackout caused by widespread power failure hid the fate of Nassau and the other Bahamas islands battered by the vicious and abnormal tropic storm.

By 9 a.m., Nassau's 50,000 residents had experienced the brutal force of hurricane winds more than eight hours. And with Betsy standing still, nobody could tell how many more hours of savage punishment the Bahamian capital would have to endure.

Thrashing about in the aimless fashion that has marked the freakish storm since its birth Aug. 27, Betsy hovered close enough to the densely populated southeast coast of Florida to rake it with winds gusting at 40 miles an hour.

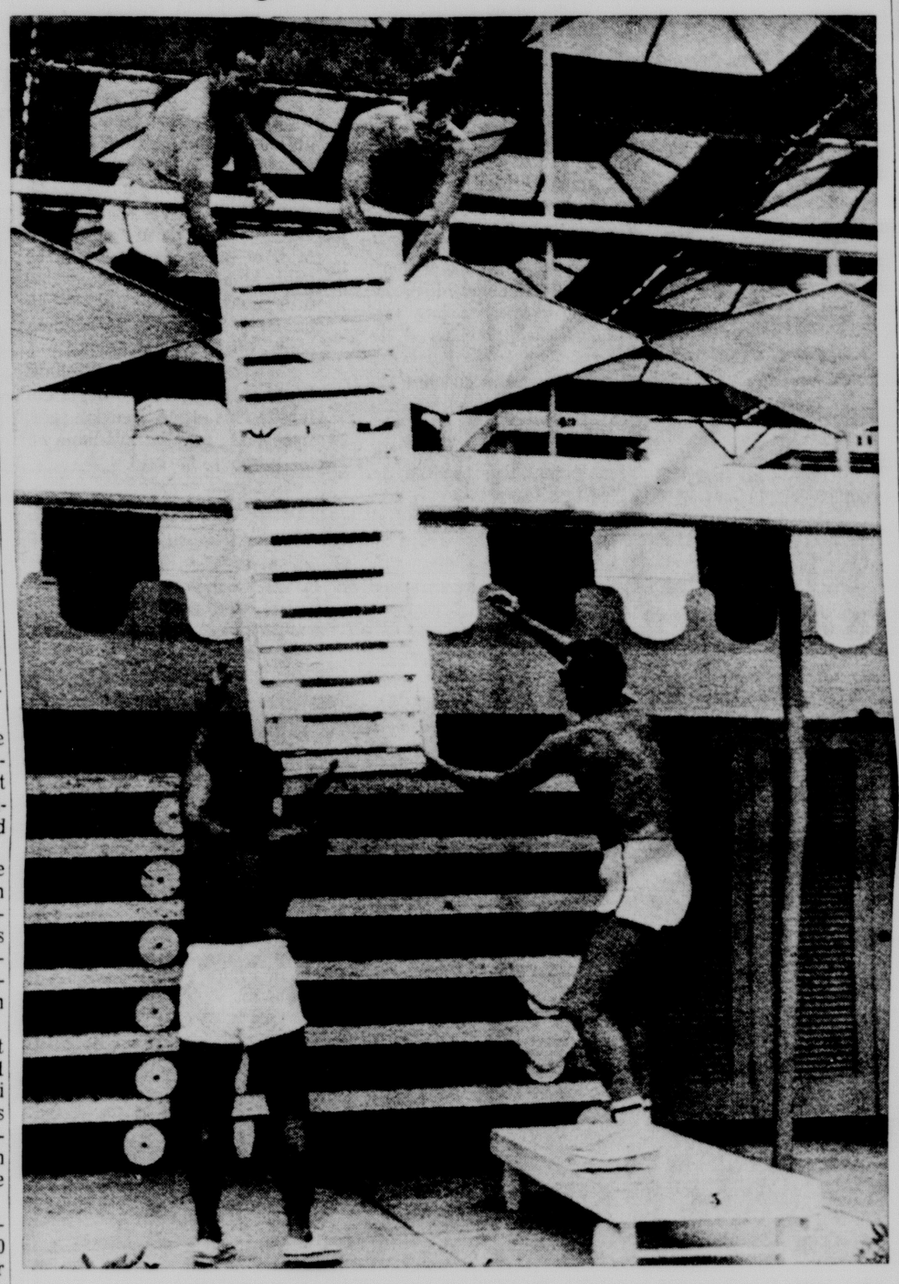

"All interests in extreme south Florida must be reconciled to a prolonged threat from this slow-moving hurricane," the Weather Bureau said in a 9 a.m. bulletin.

"The center of the hurricane will likely be as close or even nearer Miami tomorrow morning than it is today. It seems probable that hurricane warnings must be continued for another 36 hours or possibly even longer."

Power failure knocked out communications at Nassau at 1 a.m. (EST) when the Miami Weather bureau received its final word — that winds had risen to an 80-mile-an-hour pitch and seas around the island were going wild.

Early this morning, forecasters said Nassau, a city of 50,000 persons, had vanished on radar into the 40-mile wide eye of the hurricane or into the cloud wall

New Delhi Reports Indian Tanks Meet Strong Resistance

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian and Pakistani bombers carried the war to large cities in both countries today as the conflict spread 1,000 miles across the subcontinent to areas along the border between India and East Pakistan.

The Pakistani air force claimed destruction of 46 Indian planes, including 24 today in an air battle over Sargodha, 250 miles south of Rawalpindi, and in raids on Indian air bases.

Official Pakistani sources in Rawalpindi said the Indian air force attacked early today at Rawalpindi and Karachi, in West Pakistan, and at Dacca, Chittagong, Kurmi, Kurmitola, Jessore and Lalmunirhat, all in East Pakistan. Few details were available.

India said its bombers attacked Chaklala airbase at Rawalpindi, Pakistan's capital, but a Pakistani spokesman there said no bombs fell on military areas.

Pakistani radio broadcasts said the Indians also hit Karachi, the nation's biggest city and the major seaport in West Pakistan, and Dacca and Chittagong, on the other side of India in East Pakistan.

An official Indian announcement said Pakistani planes hit "civilian areas" in Amritsar, largest city in Punjab State, and Kalaikunda airbase at Calcutta.

New Delhi claimed its fighters beat Pakistan's air force in air battles over wide areas of the subcontinent and destroyed nine American - made planes flown by Pakistani pilots — two F104 supersonic jet fighters, six American Sabre Jets, and one B57 bomber.

India said it lost eight planes but had turned back many Pakistani attacks.

In ground combat, India acknowledged it was meeting "increasing resistance." Pakistan claimed it had halted India's tank-infantry invasion of West Pakistan which crossed the international frontier at dawn Monday.

Lahore, Pakistan's second largest city 15 miles from the frontier, appeared to be the target of the Indian invasion.

Marines Launch Major Viet Drive

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines launched a major assault today on a peninsula along the South China Sea, but at day's end reported no major contact with Communist guerrillas.

At the same time, a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon reported that a U.S Marine unit Sunday had used tear gas as the "most harmless method" to remove women and children from tunnels where Viet Cong suspects were believed hiding.

The civilians — along with the Communist suspects — were removed from tunnels and caves near Qui Nhon, 260 miles northeast of Saigon, the spokesman said. He said they suffered nothing more than crying from the effects of the tear gas.

Of today's big assault, 20 miles south of Chu Lai, on the Batangan peninsula, a Marine spokesman said:

"We have not located any of the Viet Cong units reported in the area. Indications are right now they may have gone."

A Vietnamese unit, operating south of the Marines, was reported earlier in contact with the Viet Cong. Helicopters were ferrying Vietnamese wounded to the Da Nang military hospital.

The assault on the Batangan peninsula was launched with support of gunfire from ships of the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet.

The spokesman said the massive offensive was comparable in size to the U.S. Marine assault last month in which 600 Viet Cong were killed on the Van Tuong peninsula. It was the biggest American- Viet Cong battle of the war, with an estimated 5,000 Marines taking part.

Operation Piranha, named after the man - eating South American fish, was launched after intelligence reports of strong Viet Cong positions in the area south of the U.S. base at Chu Lai, on the coast of the central highlands.

Reliable sources said aerial photos showed that Viet Cong positions in the area had been growing considerably in recent weeks.

The lack of early contact with the Communist guerrillas could

Pair Found Murdered Near City In Arizona

ASHFORK, Ariz. (AP)—Picnickers stumbled Monday onto the bodies of two young men, shot to death with their hands tied behind their backs.

The victims, in their mid-20s, each had been shot twice. Investigators said one of the men had been beaten severely on the head.

A physician estimated they had been dead 12 to 18 hours. No identification or money was found on the bodies, about 75 feet apart in a remote area of cedar trees and rocks seven miles east of Ashfork.

Man Remains 'Poor' From Crash Injury

Charles H. Moore, 45, of 7th Ave., LaCroft, was in "poor" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto crash which killed his wife and son and a city girl Sunday afternoon on Route 7 near Brookside.

Moore suffered internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. Killed were his wife, Mrs. Statira Moore, 39, and his 10-month-old son, David Moore, and Rosalind Richards, 16, of 938 Princeton Ave., who was a passenger in the second car.

Charles D. Moore, 13, was discharged Monday from the hospital, but two other children, William Moore, 12, and Irene Moore, 3, remain in "fair" condition.

The driver of the other car was Fred Brenneman, 19, of 1907 Allison St. He was transferred to Montefiore Hospital at Pittsburgh Sunday night.

Air Force Lists Plane As Lost In Philippines

MANILA (AP) — A U.S. Air Force transport missing for eight days has been given up as lost, an Air Force spokesman said today.

The spokesman said that the search for the C123 was called off Monday night.

The four-engine plane took off with nine crewmen from Nha Trang, in South Viet Nam, on a flight to Formosa on Aug. 31, flying a routine course over the China Sea. It made routine position checks until it reached an area off the west coast of Luzon.

Work Agenda Still Lengthy In Congress

Lawmakers Faced By Farm Bill, Fight Over Johnson Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Labor Day behind it, Congress faces some long days this week with wrangles over a farm bill, a presidential veto and some big-money appropriations.

Although there had been hopes lawmakers would be on their way home by now, they have a long docket of major and minor bills — and controversies — that could well extend into October.

The House starts it out today with a dispute over its Armed Services Committee's decision not to stir up a fight over President Johnson's veto of a plan to strengthen Congress' hand in base-closing arguments with the Pentagon.

Instead, the committee worked out with the administration a milder, compromise version to require the Pentagon to give Congress a 30- day notice and a full report on future base shutdowns.

The compromise goes to the floor today, contained in a $1.78-billion military construction authorization, to face protests of some congressmen — including about six members of the committee.

Many of them would like to take a crack at overriding the veto, even though few believe the attempt would be successful.

Italy Counts 56 Dead After 7 Days Of Rains

ROME (AP)—Seven days after torrential rains began to sweep Italy, disaster crews still struggled today to bring normal life back to the country.

General weather conditions were improving despite continued rains in scattered areas.

The unofficial flood toll was put at 56 dead with another 20 missing. Damage to buildings and crops was expected to amount to hundreds of millions of dollars.

New Regulations Feared

Work Routine Continues At Schweitzer's Hospital

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP) — Work continued as usual today at Dr. Albert Schweitzer's jungle hospital but some of the famed old humanitarian's successors feared the government of Gabon would impose new regulations on the institution.

Dr. Schweitzer, who died Saturday night at the age of 90, had steadfastly refused to apply European standards of hygiene or to teach the Africans European medical methods. Despite criticism from African nationalists, he contended that advanced methods were not applicable to the continent's primitive heart.

"This hospital will continue in the spirit of my father," said Rhena Eckert, Schweitzer's daughter. "I am confident that everything will work out."

"We want to continue work in his spirit," said Charles Michel of Strasbourg, France, treasurer of the Dr. Albert Schweitzer Hospital Association, which owns the hospital.

Mrs. Eckert said she would seek an appointment with President Leon Mba of Gabon to "discuss everything."

"We count on the help of Schweitzer committees throughout the world," she said.

Dr. Walter Munz, Schweitzer's 32-year-old Swiss assistant, is the new head of the medical staff, and Mrs. Eckert is directing the hospital administration.

Dr. Schweitzer suffered a cerebral stroke on Aug. 28 and for most of last week was in a semicoma. The coma deepened Friday and he died quietly the next night in his wooden hut. "At no time was there any suffering," a medical bulletin said.

He was buried Sunday close to his hut, beside the grave of his wife. She died in 1957.

Schweitzer abandoned promising careers as a theologian, musician, writer and physician to set up his hospital deep in the rain forests of French Equatorial Africa in 1913.

"I am here to help," he repeatedly told visitors who wanted to know why he had sacrificed a comfortable life in Europe. "I am not asking for anything. I am just a doctor in Africa."

At the ramshackle hospital in a clearing on the banks of the Ogooue River, Schweitzer became a legend, a man variously called a saint and the world's greatest living missionary.

Three Accidents Investigated By Wellsville Police

Wellsville police investigated three accidents over the holiday weekend.

Cars operated by Ralph Falconer of Wellsville R. D. 1 and Darrell L. Jackson, 1068 Jennings Ave., were involved in a crash near 3rd and Main Sts. Sunday at 12:05 p. m.

Jackson pulled from a parking spot at the curb into the side of the Falconer car, police said.

A car driven by David Davis of Irondale was hit in the rear by another operated by Robert D. Russell of Salineville Saturday at 9:30 p. m. on Wells Ave.

Davis had halted to make a left turn. Russell was cited for reckless operation and posted a $25 bond for appearance before Mayor William Daugherty.

Cars operated by Lawrence Jones Jr. of Rogers and C. E. Whiteman of Main St., Wellsville, collided at the intersection of 6th and Main Sts. Saturday at 4:40 p. m.

Registration Will Continue

Registrations for the East Liverpool Area Center of Kent State University will continue to be accepted until noon Sept. 18, John G. Hedrick, director said.

However, a $5 late registration fee will be charged, he added.

Terming the enrollment "tremendous," Hedrick said 227 registered and paid the required fees Saturday, five others still must pay fees, and 21 arrived too late to register.

All speech classes and all but two English classes are closed, Hedrick said, adding that no classes had to be canceled because of a lack of registration, an unusual situation in a branch center.

As many as 50 students are enrolled in some history classes, which is a lecture course.

Classes will begin Sept. 22, with six afternoon classes and 12 evening classes scheduled. Most of the day classes will be held Monday and Wednesday afternoons at the center's headquarters in the IBOP building on W. 6th St.

Students unable to purchase books Saturday may order them through his office, Hedrick said. Used texts may be available on the campus, he said.

Fund Carnival To Open Tonight

A carnival to help raise money for the Patterson Field Improvement Fund will open tonight at the parking lot adjoining the Winland Lumber Co. on Walnut St.

The carnival will continue each night through Saturday from 7 to 11:30 p. m. The annual football parade will be held Thursday night, ending at the carnival.

An auction of new and used merchandise will be held Wednesday night starting at 7.

Under way for several months, the fund campaign has a goal of $50,000. New bleachers, new lights and resodding of the football field has been completed and a new press box and improvements to the concrete stadium are planned.

Woman, 66, Stabbed In Case At Wellsville

A 66-year-old Wellsville woman was stabbed several times at her home early today by a Pittsburgh man who was picked up later after an apparent fight on 14th St.

May Harbor, 1778 Buckeye Ave., was stabbed on the hands and under the chin about 2:25 a. m. today by James Petties of Pittsburgh, police said.

Mrs. Harbor was treated at City Hospital.

Police said Petties fled the house and later got into an argument at 14th and Center St.

When officers arrived, he had left and was picked up walking along the lower end of 14th.

There were several bricks lying in the street at the scene of the fracas. Petties apparently was hit in the head with one, officers said.

Petties is being held at the Wellsville jail and police were to confer with County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis this afternoon.

Woman, 66, Stabbed In Case At Wellsville

A 66-year-old Wellsville woman was stabbed several times at her home early today by a Pittsburgh man who was picked up later after an apparent fight on 14th St.

May Harbor, 1778 Buckeye Ave., was stabbed on the hands and under the chin about 2:25 a. m. today by James Petties of Pittsburgh, police said.

Mrs. Harbor was treated at City Hospital.

Police said Petties fled the house and later got into an argument at 14th and Center St.

When officers arrived, he had left and was picked up walking along the lower end of 14th.

There were several bricks lying in the street at the scene of the fracas. Petties apparently was hit in the head with one, officers said.

Petties is being held at the Wellsville jail and police were to confer with County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis this afternoon.

Branch College Future Looks Bright

An enrollment of at least 250 is now expected for the East Liverpool Area Center of Kent State University which will begin classes shortly.

The figure is most encouraging to the branch college officials and to the local committee which has worked so hard to see a dream of higher education come true here. In addition, it should be most encouraging to the townspeople who stand to benefit in more ways than one.

This is not some hastily-contrived idea to take up the educational slack on the college level. Rather, it is a carefully-prepared long-range program designed to help meet the community's and the area's needs, not only for the present but for years to come.

The area branch is a fully-accredited institution of higher learning, with a faculty exceptionally well qualified to meet its requirements, according to those directly involved with the organizational program.

With the enrollment figures already past the 200 mark, things look bright for the new venture locally in education.

A United Effort

Pughtown area residents have every right to be proud, with ground having been broken for a $350,000 project to provide water service.

The ground-breaking represented more than merely turning over a shovel of dirt. It represented six years of community effort to realize a goal. Because of the united campaign, the benefits and rewards of the new system should be appreciated even more.

It will be a wonderful Christmas present if the water is flowing then as officials of the Tomlinson Service District anticipate.

Extra Care Asked Of Motorists

Many area youngsters have resumed school already and others will return to classes this week.

Which once more brings up the fact that these are especially critical days between youngster and motorist. Many children are going to and from school for the first time, including some who never have had to face traffic alone.

Older children, too, can be expected to be less cautious than usual as they start working their way back into a routine following a summer of carefree activity.

In some areas, the first days will be made more hazardous because some schools will not yet have organized safety patrols for the year, plus the possibility that new patrol members will be inexperienced in meeting their new and important responsibilities.

To help offset these factors, it is essential that all motorists remain extra alert when children are going to and from class and that they drive with added caution near school buildings.

Statistics show that the safety record of school children is a good one. Motorists must accept a major share of the responsibility in keeping it that way.

Keep Moving

A meeting Thursday at Columbus will afford another opportunity for Columbiana County to put its best foot forward in the direction of a new airport.

The county can't afford to lag in its efforts, with so many others also banging on the door for a share of the funds approved by the voters in May.

Gov. Rhodes has pointed out he will urge counties without airpots to move with all possible speed in developing landing fields which he terms a "must" if new industries are to be attracted and more jobs provided.

Need there be any greater reason for continued action on the Columbiana County level?

Plugging The Drain

The free - spending American tourist abroad has been a continuing headache for U.S. economists who have been trying to reduce the flow of dollars overseas and plug the drain on our gold reserves.

Now Congress has taken a faltering step in that direction by enacting new tariff schedules to change the value of foreign goods that can be brought into this country duty-free by American citizens.

The new schedules, which take effect Oct. 1, will contain a $100 exemption on goods from abroad but will base the exemption on the higher retail value rather than on the wholesale value as in the past.

Previously, $167 in retail purchases was deemed to meet the $100 limit based on wholesale merchandise purchases. After Oct. 1, duty would have to be paid on $67 of that amount.

The Treasury Department is confident this will help retard tourist spending abroad and estimates it will lead to a $55 million annual improvement in the U.S. balance of payments.

But there is a big loophole in the legislation that makes it more of a gesture than a restriction. Tourists will be able to avoid the new limitation simply by mailing some gifts from abroad instead of carrying them through customs.

At best, this token gesture indicates at least some recognition in Congress of the problem.

But instead of zeroing in on the tourist, Congress should be showing its concern by tightening foreign credit allowances and foreign aid and European defenses.

Show Biz

Everybody had a theory and a point of view on Casey Stengel.

His retirement from baseball managing, following his recovery from a broken hip, will bring all theorizing and viewpointing to a slow stop. Casey is about to start the descent into oblivion that engulfs show business personalities when they drop out of the headlines.

That was his forte—show biz. He never was more than a journeyman baseball player. He was a good but not an outstanding manager. He won when he had the horses, as he had when he managed the New York Yankees. He lost when he lacked the horses while managing the New York Mets.

But he was consistently great at the ticket window. Sports writers and cameramen loved him. His shambling gait when he walked on the field was coast-to-coast identification. He was as well-known as Santa Claus.

Those of us who think baseball is primarily entertainment are sorry to see Casey Stengl go home to stay. We had been wondering for years how long an aging man could expect to wear bloomers and a funny little hat and get away with it. But that was part of the show-biz atmosphere that went with Casey Stengel's marvelous ability to bring himself to favorable notice.

He got away with it, even when he was approaching 75.

He had a great act!

You would think these things were premieres at the Paramount or Palace and the photographers were newspapermen.

One way of looking at it is that the world is divided into two kinds of people—camera nuts and anti-camera nuts.

NEWS WITHIN the last few days of a federal judge fining two of our greatest electrical appliance manufacturers something like $16 million for collusion raises the specter of old Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, who fined an oil company $29 million in 1907 for rebates to railroads which carried the company's oil.

A magazine awhile ago ran the judge's name with quotation marks around the Kennesaw Mountain and heard about it in letters from irate readers.

Just to save you the trouble of looking it up, the peak for which he was named is 1,809-foot Kennesaw Mountain in Georgia, northwest of Atlanta.

Judge Landis later was appointed baseball commissioner and served with distinction.

DAUGHTERS of the American Revolution were back in the news recently when they caused a flap over women's girdles named Stars 'n' Stripes.

You can just imagine the president of the Daughters saying to the public relations director, "My goodness what are we going to do about all this publicity?"

And the public relations director, rubbing her hands together enthusiastically, replying, "Do about it? We'll encourage it of course, as long as they spell our name right."

Faithfully yours,

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

That first column on your return from vacation, in which you singlehandedly undertook to destroy the image and joy of shutterbugs, caused me mixed emotions. When it comes to amateur photography, I am ambivalent.

Emulating your scornful attitude, I made a few disparaging remarks about tourists and cameras before our last vacation to New York City, with the result that our second generation has not one print to show of itself standing self - consciously in front of the Statue of Liberty or Grant's tomb. What will they show their grandchildren?

Many was the happy hour we whiled away in younger days sitting on a divan perusing a photo album of family characters shown us by "friends."

Our family record is replete with volumes of daguerreotypes of moustacheod men and bustled women upon historic occasions, such as clambakes for Tilden, Hayes and Tippecanoe and earlier facsimilies of the face of De Witt Clinton and his relatives.

One thing all your friends looked forward to when you returned from your vacation was pictures of you standing there majestically, in Bermuda shorts, on muscular and hairy legs, on a crag surveying the mighty Pacific Ocean in the personification of Vasco Nunez de Balboa (1474-1517) when he "discovered" that mighty drink.

Alas, your sense of false vanity has deprived us of that pleasure.

The other side of my ambivalence is evidenced by my irritation at amateur photographic buffs who insist on flashing their bulbs at such events as school athletic events and graduations.

Wheat Deal Blunder Passes In Review

By RAYMOND MOLEY

When Messrs. Schlesinger and Sorensen get around to it in their premature memoirs, I wish they would tell us who was advising John F. Kennedy when he announced the wheat deal with Russia on Oct. 9, 1963. For the President, as the son of a highly successful business operator, made probably the worst business deal since the Dutch were foolish enough to buy New York from the Indians.

The descent from the high plateau of conditions made by our government is amusing enough, although it was costly entertainment for our taxpayers.

President Kennedy said that the sales of wheat would be carried out by private American dealers for American dollars or gold under normal commercial credit terms. But the banks balked, and Lyndon Johnson had to twist the arms of Congress to provide credit from the government.

PRESIDENT Kennedy said the deal would help the American taxpayer. But after having subsidized the wheat at home, we had to add to the subsidy $7 million in freight in order to get the Russians to hire some of our ships.

The biggest joke in the whole transaction was the President's promise that all the stuff would be carried in American ships and thus provide employment for American seamen. There weren't enough such ships available, and so we climbed down to 50 per cent.

The maritime unions grumbled, and the Commerce Department set "guideline" rates so low that American shipowners, who have plenty of headaches making a living, used their ships for more profitable business than in feeding the Russians. Only about a third of the grain was finally carried under U.S. Flag.

Now the Soviet Union is again shopping for wheat. The Soviet wheat crop, which had promised to match the good harvest of last year, has been hit by weather. Besides, grain has apparently been diverted into the fattening of livestock.

THE LONDON Economist has noted that "It is now roughly twice as profitable for a collective farm to stuff a ton of grain into pigs as into a government procurement bin. And Russian farmers are as adept as their Western colleagues in doing their sums — and acting on them." As a result, it's estimated that the Russians will sell $450 million in gold for this season's grain buying, and there are also the huge purchases by Red China of wheat from Canada.

We have wheat galore, but we haven't made up our minds about doing business with the Russians. Surely, however, after their previous experience in buying from Americans, the Russians will seek grain everywhere before trying us again. Nevertheless, the congressmen and senators from the farm states, along with Vice President Humphrey, are trying to get rid of the order by which 50 per cent of wheat sales to Russians must go in U.S.-Flag ships.

THE MARITIME unions loudly demand their percentage and say that, without it, they will—to belabor a word—strike. Secretary Rusk denies that the President has any intention of selling grain to Russia. And some lonesome voices are raised in Congress to say that it will be quite difficult to ask our allies not to ship supplies to the Viet Cong if we are going to fall all over ourselves to garner some of those Russian bucks.

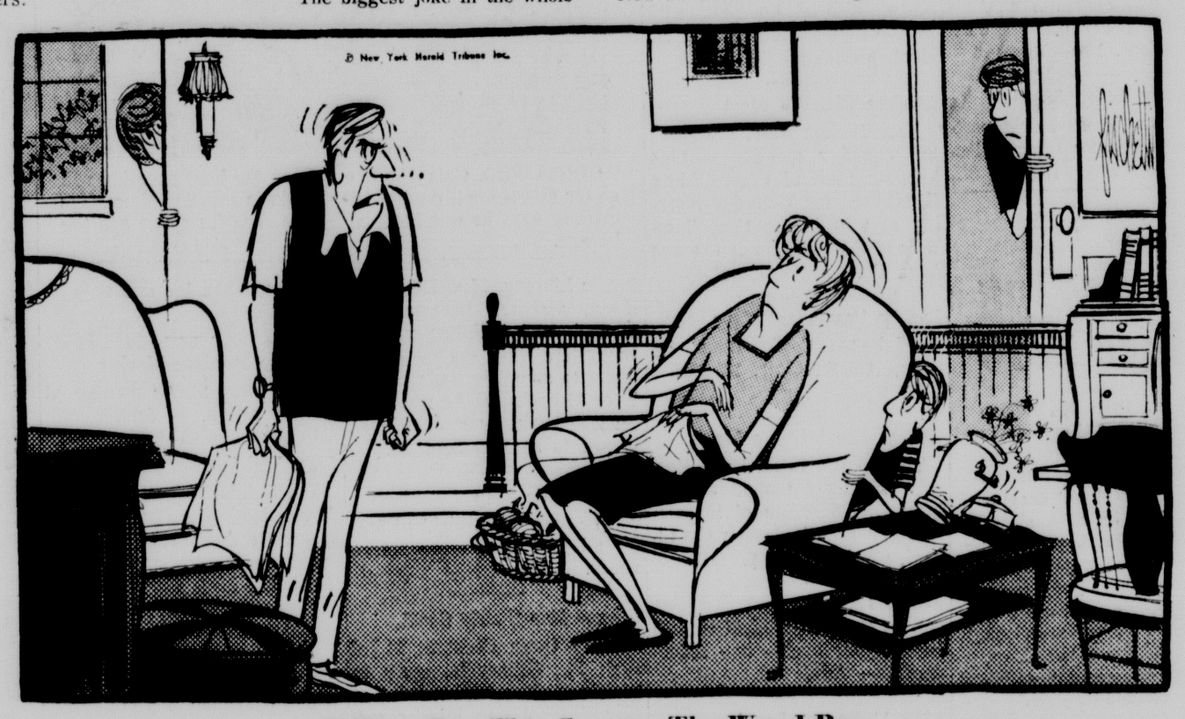

It was through an executive order that the 50-50 provision was applied to the Kennedy Russian wheat deal — an outlandish requirement in a "commercial" transaction. The taxpayers do foot the bill for higher rates charged by otherwise unsubsidized U.S. ships carrying 50 per cent of government-financed cargoes.

Maritime administrator Nicholas Johnson has emphasized that as a subsidy such cargo-preference has been a miserable failure and that not a single new tramp ship has been built since 1956. The cost to the taxpayers is $80 million annually.

THERE ARE only 131 dry-cargo tramps remaining in the active fleet. Of these, 33 are currently under charter to companies for liner service, and 25 are under charter to the Military Sea Transportation Service.

That leaves only 73, plus some grain - carrying tankers, for a portion of foreign aid grain commitments that go over the world in U.S. ships and for the steadily rising demands of supplying Viet Nam. Military needs have already called at least 47 ships from the government reserve fleet, and over this emergency build-up there looms a shortage of personnel.

We could not carry more than a few bushels of wheat to the Russians if we wanted to.

'If They Ran This Country The Way I Run My Home, There'd Be A Lot Less Trouble'

Are Big Strikes Thing Of The Past?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

This country is unlikely to see again a big strike in any industry where a prolonged shutdown would seriously hurt the general welfare or the national economy.

President Johnson was using kid gloves when he persuaded the steel industry and the steel workers last week to reach a settlement without a strike. He simply pressured them into it and offered suggestions they accepted.

If he had failed, undoubtedly he would have obtained an injunction to postpone a strike 80 days. If at the end of that time there was still no agreement, he could have asked Congress for action to prevent a strike.

These steps might seem harsh in a society which long prided itself on a tradition of free, collective bargaining. But he would have been no more drastic than other presidents before him.

All this has a history, for labor-management relations have gone through three stages:

1. For most of American history labor had little protection from the law. Management didn't have to bargain with a union. It could shut down its plant. It could get court injunctions to stop a strike.

Those were the free-wheeling days when the American society was far less complex than now, and far less interdependent, and when one big strike didn't affect so many people and so many segments of the economy.

2. The change came in the 1930s. In 1932, under the Norris-LaGuardia Act, Congress made it almost impossible for a judge to issue an injunction against a strike.

AND IN 1935, under the Wagner Act, employes had to bargain with a union. The free-wheeling days were gone. But not quite. Organized labor expanded enormously under the protection of law. And it became rambunctious.

3. In 1947, after a fantastic spasm of postwar strikes, Congress passed the Taft-Hartley Act putting restraints on labor and permitting an 80-day injunction against a strike which might injure the country badly.

It was President Harry S. Truman who, immediately after the war, began to show how far a president would go now to prevent a disastrous strike. There were many strikes in many industries, too many to be listed here.

There was a 113-day strike in the auto industry. Truman produced a compromise formula to end a steel strike. The coal miners struck so long that Truman said it was close to becoming a strike against the government.

He finally ordered the mines seized by the government and a settlement followed. He ordered the railroads seized to prevent a strike and threatened to call out the Army if the workers didn't return to their jobs.

HE ASKED Congress for special powers, even to drafting rail strikers into the Army. The strike ended. And in 1952 Truman seized the steel mills to prevent a strike but the Supreme Court ruled he had overreached himself.

In 1959 President Dwight D. Eisenhower tried to return to the old hands-off philosophy and let a steel strike start. It lasted a record-breaking 116 days. Then he got an 80-day injunction to stop it and it was settled.

No president is likely to try that again. When President John F. Kennedy was faced with a rail strike in 1963 Congress adopted a joint resolution barring a strike for 180 days and providing for compulsory arbitration.

Just a year before, in 1962, a committee which included labor and management representatives had agreed a president should not sit back and let a strike start in a vital industry where it threatened the national economy.

This committee, created by Kennedy, also had representatives of the government and the public. They agreed collective bargaining must be free but must be responsive to the public interest.

The committee proposed broad revisions in the law — not undertaken by Congress yet — for handling emergency situations, including government power to propose settlement terms.

But free collective bargaining in any vital industry has become an American myth. It's free until negotiations stall and a strike threatens. Then the government steps in, mildly at first, tougher when it's necessary.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Since it is compulsorary for children of school age to be in school and for school buses to be provided, why isn't there a law stating that a safe route must be provided for the buses, cars or even foot travelers?

It would be nice if Shadyside Ave. was done over to look one-half as nice as St. Clair Ave.

Did Council mention anything to Mr. Nelson about how they would like to have Shadyside repaired? Mr. Nelson is from New Philadelphia, Division 11 of the State Highway Department. We say he should have put on his coat and hat and he and all the rest of the men who were at the dedication should have come down to see the Shadyside roadway.

The people should be 100 per cent behind the superintendent of schools. If the road is in an unsafe condition in bad weather, or any time, for that matter. We believe the youngsters would be better off at home than at the bottom of the hollow or in some accident. But that is up to the parents if a decision of the school board comes about.

It has been proven there is not room for buses to pass safely and many more unsafe conditions have been pointed out to Council.

There was a plan by Council to be shown to the county commissioners. A delegation asked the commissioners if they had seen or heard of this plan, and they said they had not.

Mr. Boyd said "The committee (Council of East Liverpool) would receive a cordial welcome and my personal utmost cooperation" and Mr. Wilson promised his cooperation. The door is open. Don't close it.

A commissioner said this is a local responsibility and should be handled as such. We agree, here in East Liverpool it should be. But what if nothing is done? Then what? We of the group of citizens of Liverpool Township certainly believe it should go on. In fact it will go on—on to New Philadelphia or farther if necessary.

With the enrollment figures already past the 200 mark, things look bright for the new venture locally in education.

A United Effort

Pughtown area residents have every right to be proud, with ground having been broken for a $350,000 project to provide water service.

The ground-breaking represented more than merely turning over a shovel of dirt. It represented six years of community effort to realize a goal. Because of the united campaign, the benefits and rewards of the new system should be appreciated even more.

It will be a wonderful Christmas present if the water is flowing then as officials of the Tomlinson Service District anticipate.

Extra Care Asked Of Motorists

Many area youngsters have resumed school already and others will return to classes this week.

Which once more brings up the fact that these are especially critical days between youngster and motorist. Many children are going to and from school for the first time, including some who never have had to face traffic alone.

Older children, too, can be expected to be less cautious than usual as they start working their way back into a routine following a summer of carefree activity.

In some areas, the first days will be made more hazardous because some schools will not yet have organized safety patrols for the year, plus the possibility that new patrol members will be inexperienced in meeting their new and important responsibilities.

To help offset these factors, it is essential that all motorists remain extra alert when children are going to and from class and that they drive with added caution near school buildings.

Statistics show that the safety record of school children is a good one. Motorists must accept a major share of the responsibility in keeping it that way.

Keep Moving

A meeting Thursday at Columbus will afford another opportunity for Columbiana County to put its best foot forward in the direction of a new airport.

The county can't afford to lag in its efforts, with so many others also banging on the door for a share of the funds approved by the voters in May.

Gov. Rhodes has pointed out he will urge counties without airpots to move with all possible speed in developing landing fields which he terms a "must" if new industries are to be attracted and more jobs provided.

Need there be any greater reason for continued action on the Columbiana County level?

Plugging The Drain

The free - spending American tourist abroad has been a continuing headache for U.S. economists who have been trying to reduce the flow of dollars overseas and plug the drain on our gold reserves.

Now Congress has taken a faltering step in that direction by enacting new tariff schedules to change the value of foreign goods that can be brought into this country duty-free by American citizens.

The new schedules, which take effect Oct. 1, will contain a $100 exemption on goods from abroad but will base the exemption on the higher retail value rather than on the wholesale value as in the past.

Previously, $167 in retail purchases was deemed to meet the $100 limit based on wholesale merchandise purchases. After Oct. 1, duty would have to be paid on $67 of that amount.

The Treasury Department is confident this will help retard tourist spending abroad and estimates it will lead to a $55 million annual improvement in the U.S. balance of payments.

But there is a big loophole in the legislation that makes it more of a gesture than a restriction. Tourists will be able to avoid the new limitation simply by mailing some gifts from abroad instead of carrying them through customs.

At best, this token gesture indicates at least some recognition in Congress of the problem.

But instead of zeroing in on the tourist, Congress should be showing its concern by tightening foreign credit allowances and foreign aid and European defenses.

Show Biz

Everybody had a theory and a point of view on Casey Stengel.

His retirement from baseball managing, following his recovery from a broken hip, will bring all theorizing and viewpointing to a slow stop. Casey is about to start the descent into oblivion that engulfs show business personalities when they drop out of the headlines.

That was his forte—show biz. He never was more than a journeyman baseball player. He was a good but not an outstanding manager. He won when he had the horses, as he had when he managed the New York Yankees. He lost when he lacked the horses while managing the New York Mets.

But he was consistently great at the ticket window. Sports writers and cameramen loved him. His shambling gait when he walked on the field was coast-to-coast identification. He was as well-known as Santa Claus.

Those of us who think baseball is primarily entertainment are sorry to see Casey Stengl go home to stay. We had been wondering for years how long an aging man could expect to wear bloomers and a funny little hat and get away with it. But that was part of the show-biz atmosphere that went with Casey Stengel's marvelous ability to bring himself to favorable notice.

He got away with it, even when he was approaching 75.

He had a great act!

You would think these things were premieres at the Paramount or Palace and the photographers were newspapermen.

One way of looking at it is that the world is divided into two kinds of people—camera nuts and anti-camera nuts.

NEWS WITHIN the last few days of a federal judge fining two of our greatest electrical appliance manufacturers something like $16 million for collusion raises the specter of old Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis, who fined an oil company $29 million in 1907 for rebates to railroads which carried the company's oil.

A magazine awhile ago ran the judge's name with quotation marks around the Kennesaw Mountain and heard about it in letters from irate readers.

Just to save you the trouble of looking it up, the peak for which he was named is 1,809-foot Kennesaw Mountain in Georgia, northwest of Atlanta.

Judge Landis later was appointed baseball commissioner and served with distinction.

DAUGHTERS of the American Revolution were back in the news recently when they caused a flap over women's girdles named Stars 'n' Stripes.

You can just imagine the president of the Daughters saying to the public relations director, "My goodness what are we going to do about all this publicity?"

And the public relations director, rubbing her hands together enthusiastically, replying, "Do about it? We'll encourage it of course, as long as they spell our name right."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

That first column on your return from vacation, in which you singlehandedly undertook to destroy the image and joy of shutterbugs, caused me mixed emotions. When it comes to amateur photography, I am ambivalent.

Emulating your scornful attitude, I made a few disparaging remarks about tourists and cameras before our last vacation to New York City, with the result that our second generation has not one print to show of itself standing self - consciously in front of the Statue of Liberty or Grant's tomb. What will they show their grandchildren?

Many was the happy hour we whiled away in younger days sitting on a divan perusing a photo album of family characters shown us by "friends."

Our family record is replete with volumes of daguerreotypes of moustacheod men and bustled women upon historic occasions, such as clambakes for Tilden, Hayes and Tippecanoe and earlier facsimilies of the face of De Witt Clinton and his relatives.

One thing all your friends looked forward to when you returned from your vacation was pictures of you standing there majestically, in Bermuda shorts, on muscular and hairy legs, on a crag surveying the mighty Pacific Ocean in the personification of Vasco Nunez de Balboa (1474-1517) when he "discovered" that mighty drink.

Alas, your sense of false vanity has deprived us of that pleasure.

The other side of my ambivalence is evidenced by my irritation at amateur photographic buffs who insist on flashing their bulbs at such events as school athletic events and graduations.

Wheat Deal Blunder Passes In Review

By RAYMOND MOLEY

When Messrs. Schlesinger and Sorensen get around to it in their premature memoirs, I wish they would tell us who was advising John F. Kennedy when he announced the wheat deal with Russia on Oct. 9, 1963. For the President, as the son of a highly successful business operator, made probably the worst business deal since the Dutch were foolish enough to buy New York from the Indians.

The descent from the high plateau of conditions made by our government is amusing enough, although it was costly entertainment for our taxpayers.

President Kennedy said that the sales of wheat would be carried out by private American dealers for American dollars or gold under normal commercial credit terms. But the banks balked, and Lyndon Johnson had to twist the arms of Congress to provide credit from the government.

PRESIDENT Kennedy said the deal would help the American taxpayer. But after having subsidized the wheat at home, we had to add to the subsidy $7 million in freight in order to get the Russians to hire some of our ships.

The biggest joke in the whole transaction was the President's promise that all the stuff would be carried in American ships and thus provide employment for American seamen. There weren't enough such ships available, and so we climbed down to 50 per cent.

The maritime unions grumbled, and the Commerce Department set "guideline" rates so low that American shipowners, who have plenty of headaches making a living, used their ships for more profitable business than in feeding the Russians. Only about a third of the grain was finally carried under U.S. Flag.

Now the Soviet Union is again shopping for wheat. The Soviet wheat crop, which had promised to match the good harvest of last year, has been hit by weather. Besides, grain has apparently been diverted into the fattening of livestock.

THE LONDON Economist has noted that "It is now roughly twice as profitable for a collective farm to stuff a ton of grain into pigs as into a government procurement bin. And Russian farmers are as adept as their Western colleagues in doing their sums — and acting on them." As a result, it's estimated that the Russians will sell $450 million in gold for this season's grain buying, and there are also the huge purchases by Red China of wheat from Canada.

We have wheat galore, but we haven't made up our minds about doing business with the Russians. Surely, however, after their previous experience in buying from Americans, the Russians will seek grain everywhere before trying us again. Nevertheless, the congressmen and senators from the farm states, along with Vice President Humphrey, are trying to get rid of the order by which 50 per cent of wheat sales to Russians must go in U.S.-Flag ships.

THE MARITIME unions loudly demand their percentage and say that, without it, they will—to belabor a word—strike. Secretary Rusk denies that the President has any intention of selling grain to Russia. And some lonesome voices are raised in Congress to say that it will be quite difficult to ask our allies not to ship supplies to the Viet Cong if we are going to fall all over ourselves to garner some of those Russian bucks.

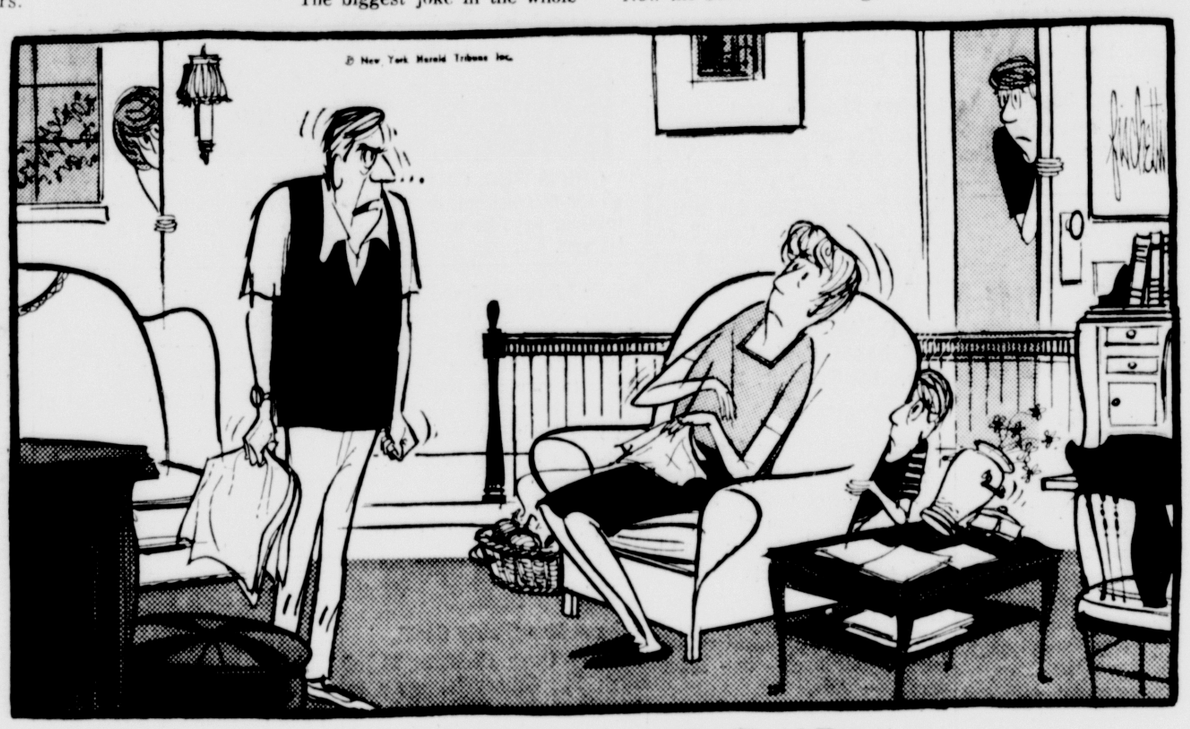

It was through an executive order that the 50-50 provision was applied to the Kennedy Russian wheat deal — an outlandish requirement in a "commercial" transaction. The taxpayers do foot the bill for higher rates charged by otherwise unsubsidized U.S. ships carrying 50 per cent of government-financed cargoes.

Maritime administrator Nicholas Johnson has emphasized that as a subsidy such cargo-preference has been a miserable failure and that not a single new tramp ship has been built since 1956. The cost to the taxpayers is $80 million annually.

THERE ARE only 131 dry-cargo tramps remaining in the active fleet. Of these, 33 are currently under charter to companies for liner service, and 25 are under charter to the Military Sea Transportation Service.

That leaves only 73, plus some grain - carrying tankers, for a portion of foreign aid grain commitments that go over the world in U.S. ships and for the steadily rising demands of supplying Viet Nam. Military needs have already called at least 47 ships from the government reserve fleet, and over this emergency build-up there looms a shortage of personnel.

We could not carry more than a few bushels of wheat to the Russians if we wanted to.

'If They Ran This Country The Way I Run My Home, There'd Be A Lot Less Trouble'

Are Big Strikes Thing Of The Past?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

This country is unlikely to see again a big strike in any industry where a prolonged shutdown would seriously hurt the general welfare or the national economy.

President Johnson was using kid gloves when he persuaded the steel industry and the steel workers last week to reach a settlement without a strike. He simply pressured them into it and offered suggestions they accepted.

If he had failed, undoubtedly he would have obtained an injunction to postpone a strike 80 days. If at the end of that time there was still no agreement, he could have asked Congress for action to prevent a strike.

These steps might seem harsh in a society which long prided itself on a tradition of free, collective bargaining. But he would have been no more drastic than other presidents before him.

All this has a history, for labor-management relations have gone through three stages:

1. For most of American history labor had little protection from the law. Management didn't have to bargain with a union. It could shut down its plant. It could get court injunctions to stop a strike.

Those were the free-wheeling days when the American society was far less complex than now, and far less interdependent, and when one big strike didn't affect so many people and so many segments of the economy.

2. The change came in the 1930s. In 1932, under the Norris-LaGuardia Act, Congress made it almost impossible for a judge to issue an injunction against a strike.

AND IN 1935, under the Wagner Act, employes had to bargain with a union. The free-wheeling days were gone. But not quite. Organized labor expanded enormously under the protection of law. And it became rambunctious.

3. In 1947, after a fantastic spasm of postwar strikes, Congress passed the Taft-Hartley Act putting restraints on labor and permitting an 80-day injunction against a strike which might injure the country badly.

It was President Harry S. Truman who, immediately after the war, began to show how far a president would go now to prevent a disastrous strike. There were many strikes in many industries, too many to be listed here.

There was a 113-day strike in the auto industry. Truman produced a compromise formula to end a steel strike. The coal miners struck so long that Truman said it was close to becoming a strike against the government.

He finally ordered the mines seized by the government and a settlement followed. He ordered the railroads seized to prevent a strike and threatened to call out the Army if the workers didn't return to their jobs.

HE ASKED Congress for special powers, even to drafting rail strikers into the Army. The strike ended. And in 1952 Truman seized the steel mills to prevent a strike but the Supreme Court ruled he had overreached himself.

In 1959 President Dwight D. Eisenhower tried to return to the old hands-off philosophy and let a steel strike start. It lasted a record-breaking 116 days. Then he got an 80-day injunction to stop it and it was settled.

No president is likely to try that again. When President John F. Kennedy was faced with a rail strike in 1963 Congress adopted a joint resolution barring a strike for 180 days and providing for compulsory arbitration.

Just a year before, in 1962, a committee which included labor and management representatives had agreed a president should not sit back and let a strike start in a vital industry where it threatened the national economy.

This committee, created by Kennedy, also had representatives of the government and the public. They agreed collective bargaining must be free but must be responsive to the public interest.

The committee proposed broad revisions in the law — not undertaken by Congress yet — for handling emergency situations, including government power to propose settlement terms.

But free collective bargaining in any vital industry has become an American myth. It's free until negotiations stall and a strike threatens. Then the government steps in, mildly at first, tougher when it's necessary.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By George Lichty

"I take modest credit for three years of prosperity since I've been president, girls! . . . No member of this club has ever gone away hungry from the buffet lunch!"

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Since it is compulsorary for children of school age to be in school and for school buses to be provided, why isn't there a law stating that a safe route must be provided for the buses, cars or even foot travelers?

It would be nice if Shadyside Ave. was done over to look one-half as nice as St. Clair Ave.

Did Council mention anything to Mr. Nelson about how they would like to have Shadyside repaired? Mr. Nelson is from New Philadelphia, Division 11 of the State Highway Department. We say he should have put on his coat and hat and he and all the rest of the men who were at the dedication should have come down to see the Shadyside roadway.

The people should be 100 per cent behind the superintendent of schools. If the road is in an unsafe condition in bad weather, or any time, for that matter. We believe the youngsters would be better off at home than at the bottom of the hollow or in some accident. But that is up to the parents if a decision of the school board comes about.

It has been proven there is not room for buses to pass safely and many more unsafe conditions have been pointed out to Council.

There was a plan by Council to be shown to the county commissioners. A delegation asked the commissioners if they had seen or heard of this plan, and they said they had not.

Mr. Boyd said "The committee (Council of East Liverpool) would receive a cordial welcome and my personal utmost cooperation" and Mr. Wilson promised his cooperation. The door is open. Don't close it.

A commissioner said this is a local responsibility and should be handled as such. We agree, here in East Liverpool it should be. But what if nothing is done? Then what? We of the group of citizens of Liverpool Township certainly believe it should go on. In fact it will go on—on to New Philadelphia or farther if necessary.

(The above is submitted by the "Liverpool Township Citizens Group of R.D. 1 Shadyside" under the signatures of L. M. Creel, Paul Enochs and O. Thompson.)

Pupils Start Fall Term In County Areas

LISBON — The summer vacation ended today for nearly 6,000 students in the Columbiana County school system who returned to classes for the start of the fall term.

A heavy fog in many parts of the county was reported by county officials as pupils resumed studies at Beaver Local, Fairfield - Waterford, Southern Local and United Local systems.

According to County School Supt. James L. McBride, the breakdown on enrollment expected by school districts is: Beaver Local, 2,592; Fairfield-Waterford, 1,065; Southern Local, 1,471; and United Local, 1,400.

Officials said no official enrollment figures would be available until late Wednesday or early Thursday.

The county students will be joined in force by many students in cities and villages who will start their first day Wednesday.

Judge Sharp Seats Jurors

LISBON — A Lisbon area man today was appointed foreman of the Columbiana County Grand Jury for the September term of Common Pleas Court.

Herschel J. Barnes, of Lisbon R. D. 2, was appointed by Judge Joel H. Sharp to head the group of 10 women and five men who will comprise the jury. They were appointed from a list of 30.

Members of the jury, seated by Judge Sharp, are: Evelyn Bowyer of Westfield Rd., East Liverpool; Helen M. Horger of Westfield Rd., East Liverpool; Shirley H. Steele of 14 North St., Lisbon; Rose Lohr of Lisbon R. D 3; Jessie McMaster of Columbiana, and Janet E. Chadwick of 1222 Oak St., East Liverpool.

Others serving on the grand jury are: Dorothy Fryman of 1st Ave., LaCroft, East Liverpool; Ollie Mae Schaffer of East Palestine; Ernest Carroll of East Liverpool; Ollie Mae Schaffer of East Palestine; Ernest Carroll of East Liverpool R. D. 3; Kenneth Yarian of East Palestine; Ruth V. McElhaney of 135 Reynolds St., East Liverpool; Ann Thornton of 816 Cadmus St., East Liverpool; Harold Baldwin of Anderson Blvd., East Liverpool.

After the judge had instructed the jury, Fred Schaffer of Leetonia, originally appointed, disclosed he was hard of hearing and had failed to comprehend the first instructions. He then was replaced by Loretta Kyser of Columbiana.

The Columbiana County Bar Association held its annual luncheon meeting today at the McKinley Room of the VFW in conjunction with the fall term of court.

Friday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.6 to 336.6.

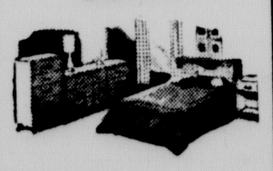

Nevada Divorce Can't Be Obtained So Easily

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Nevada's divorce laws may be more liberal than those in most states, but the do-it-yourself divorce is going too far.

Max W. Dail, 21, San Jose, Calif., was convicted of forging a judge's name to his divorce decree.

The district attorney's office said Dail made out the decree himself without bothering to go to court.

Parents Can Help Child With Reading

Recently I discussed some practices in the kindergarten at getting the child ready to read. I also pointed out that in some modern first grade classes children are often given reading readiness practice for many weeks or months before they are really taught to read.

Dr. Garry Myers

Dr. Garry Myers also pointed out that some children and their parents are impatient with waiting so long "to go," but added that the trend seems to be toward shortening this practice period in reading readiness.

If you and your child of the first grade are impatient over the long wait his teacher is having him get ready to read, you hardly would be wise to tell the teacher you are, or to try to change her ways. Indeed, she may have, or think she has, good reason for her procedure.

IN CASE you are sure your child is eager to learn to read now you might, without damage but with profit to his future learning to read, do the following:

Go on reading to him more and more from sources other than his school reader. Read as difficult material as he will greatly enjoy, reading over and over again those he wants you to read repeatedly.

If he should ask you to tell him what a certain word on a page says, gladly tell him. Do likewise if he wants to know the name of a letter he points to.

If he wants an eager playmate or an older brother or sister to teach him to read, warmly approve, as long as your child clearly enjoys the experience. Call a halt to this activity if it becomes a chore to your child, even if you yourself are teaching him to read.

—:—

IN CASE he shows interest, point out to him printed signs in stores or on the street, and to labels on food packages. Keep reading more and more to your child, enjoy companionable conversation with him, answer all his questions kindly, and try to stimulate his curiosity.

Occasionally you might ask him a question whose answer easily could come out of his own head. Some examples are:

Is your nose above your chin or below your chin? Are you older or younger than your grandfather? Do animals sit down at the table and eat as you do? Which is larger, a cow or a cat? Why do you wear shoes?

You might devise all sorts of games to play with him, such as seeing how well he can carry out a direction you give him before he begins to carry it out: close the door; open the door; put this book on the table. Keep making the directions a bit longer and harder but don't advance too rapidly. Aim at success by him and celebrate his successes.

IF HE later, brings home his primer or first reader and wishes to show you and others at home how well he can read, express strong appreciation over his achievements. But it's far better to have him show you how he can read than for you to ask him to show you how he can read.

Indeed, you may be wise to use his school book to teach him at home to read. Find other books from the library or a good book store which are as easy or easier than his school book, full of attractive pictures and very appealing to him. Be sure to find books easy enough. Watch his interest and success. Your temptation will be to press him too hard, when you might do great harm to his learning to read.

Most of all, read more and more to him from what he likes to hear as he looks at the illustrations. Measure your success by his success and pleasure.

New Record Set For Crowds At Ohio's State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 112th Ohio State Fair is over and the figure filberts think they have a new attendance record.

After 11 raucous days in which an estimated 902,271 Ohioans poured into the big fairgrounds, officials of the Ohio Expositions Commission figured they had collected admissions from something like 566,000 persons.

Last year, the fair was host to 645,073 visitors.

Many of the youngsters who annually give the fair much of its color hurried home Monday night to get ready for the first day of school.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and Fair Manager E. J. Keirns locked the heavy iron gates Monday night to bring the heavily promoted exposition to an official end.

The fair played its final day under overcast skies, but with the attraction of the Mike Douglas Show free to anyone wandering into the grandstand. Labor Day drew an estimated 69,000 to the grounds.

Lorain Woman Faces Charge In Gun Death

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Police said a 24-year-old Lorain woman will be charged today with first-degree murder in the shooting death of Lester Jewell, 29, Sunday night.

The woman, Miss Carolyn Jean Dunham, told detectives the shooting was an accident. She was quoted as saying Jewell threatened her with the .22-caliber gun during an argument as they sat in a parked car. The gun dropped to the floor and, when she retrieved it, she said, it fired accidentally.

Prison Warden Spots Familiar Face In Cab

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Warden W. D. Leeke of the South Carolina State Penitentiary was driving along Monday when he spotted an escaped convict, Howard Golightly, in a passing taxi.

Leeke swerved his car in front of the taxi and captured the 33-year-old convict, who had escaped four hours earlier. Golightly, of Greenville, S.C., was serving a two-year term for housebreaking and larceny.

Rebels Postpone Disarmament In Dominican Areas

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominican rebel leaders held off on major disarmament moves in their sector today until appointment of a provisional secretary of the armed forces.

President Hector Garcia-Godoy has not yet filled the post and completed his cabinet.

There was no visible sign the rebels were collecting arms or dismantling defenses, as called for in the inter-American peace formula.

Rebel chiefs have said they want to see how well the president handles the military, especially Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin. They want to see him transferred out of the country or kept out of any position of power. He was a leader of the 1963 overthrow of President Juan D. Bosch and the fight to break the rebellion this year.

Driver Killed, 4 Hurt In Bellefontaine Area

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—One man was killed and four persons were injured today in an automobile collision on U. S. 33 four miles northwest of here.

Killed was Ben Jones, 65, of Bellefontaine, driver of one of the cars. His daughter Viola, 20, and two small grandchildren suffered minor injuries.

Pearl Shanks, 46, of Huntsville, driver of the other car, was taken to a hospital.

Busy Weekend Spent By Patrol's Barracks

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon investigated 17 accidents over the holiday weekend.

There were nine accidents in which 20 persons were hurt and one fatal in which three were killed.

Officers arrested 67 drivers. Of these, 59 were for moving traffic violations. Officers also issued 19 written warnings for equipment defects and gave assistance to four motorists.

Parents Can Help Child With Reading

Recently I discussed some practices in the kindergarten at getting the child ready to read. I also pointed out that in some modern first grade classes children are often given reading readiness practice for many weeks or months before they are really taught to read. I also pointed out that some children and their parents are impatient with waiting so long "to go," but added that the trend seems to be toward shortening this practice period in reading readiness.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

The New Emmies

The first Emmies-with-a-new-look are about to be handed out.

Apparently their new shape has put largely to rest a TV industry controversy which erupted last year over whether they signified anything worth accepting.

Richard Doan

The gilded statuettes — TV's equivalent of the movie Oscars — won't physically look any different. The new look is a psychological one arising from the fact that the winners this time have been chosen by "blue ribbon" panels rather than the TV academy's general membership.

FURTHERMORE, rigid award categories — "best comedy series," "best actor in a dramatic special," etc. — have been abolished.

Academy officials are so chary at this point about the decisions of the judges that not only are the winners not being disclosed in advance, which is standard operating procedure, but the number of Emmies to be handed out during a 90-minute NBC telecast next Sunday night is not being told.

"It's not safe to say there will be fewer awards than in the past," is all the academy's Peter Cott would say. Cott is administrative assistant to the academy president, TV playwright Rod Serling.

THE LAST EMMIES were handed out in May last year after two of the networks, ABC and CBS, along with CBS News, had boycotted them on various critical grounds, all questioning their validity.

Subsequently the two networks returned to the fold, but CBS News President Fred W. Friendly has continued to shun participation, contending awards in the non-entertainment area should be made only by a "separate professional institution."

The academy says its Emmies will be conferred this time strictly on a merit basis, wherever earned.

A long list of nominees for the forthcoming Emmies has been published. It offers few clues. The names of prospective winners run the gamut from Leonard Berstein, Barbra Streisand, Julie Harris and Alfred Lunt to little-known production people.

-:-

So far no one on the nominee list has declined to show up for the ceremonies, Cott reported. He noted that, "unhappily," there are no nominees from CBS News.

The awards will cover the year-plus beginning April 13, 1964, and ending April 30, 1965.

As in the past, the Emmy telecast will be a two-coast affair, with Sammy Davis Jr. this time emceeing the New York end from the Hilton Hotel and Danny Thomas holding the Hollywood fort from the Palladium.

The "presenters" will include Carol Burnett, Danny Kaye, Garry Moore and David McCallum, among others.

COTT SAID he believes the celebrants at the Hilton will number close to 1,200, which would be a record New York turnout.

He said he believes the principal difference between this telecast and previous ones is that there will be more "entertainment elements." Also, he added, "there will be much greater emphasis on showing excerpts from nominated programs and performances."

The show, however, will be in black and white rather than color, because NBC remote equipment for color will be tied up elsewhere.

"Both we and NBC are sorry," Cott reported.

It will be the 11th time around on NBC for the Emmies, and the last under a current five-year contract. The academy hopes to induce the three networks to rotate the annual program among them in the future.

This undoubtedly is another way in which the academy is attempting to dispel any suspicions of bias in its awards.

AT NBC, Robert Bendick, producer of next Sunday's show, reported that one of the entertainment features will be a quartet composed of Robert Coote ("The Rogues"), Robert Reed ("The Defenders"), Shirl Conway ("The Nurses") and James Franciscus ("Mr. Novak") singing a ditty about how, now that their shows have been dropped, they can go out and practice their fictional professions.

Sammy Davis and Danny Thomas will join in a musical review - of - the - year, accompanied by the Ray Charles Singers.

Bendick characterized the planned show over-all as "a little less formal" than those of the past.

Marines Use Tear Gas In Cave Action

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Members of a U.S. Marine Corps unit used tear gas Sunday to remove women and children from tunnels and caves where Viet Cong suspects had taken refuge, a U.S. military spokesman disclosed today.

The civilians — along with the Communists suspects — suffered only crying from the effects of the tear gas, the spokesman said.

The commander of the battalion involved was said to have called for the use of tear gas on his own authority. The spokesman said he did not know why the commander had taken the action, adding that he may not have been aware of a policy against the use of tear gas or any other gas here.

Accident Probed At Nebraska Fair

LINCOLN, Neb (AP) — The cause of the collapse of an aerial ride at the Nebraska State Fair remained a mystery today.

While a record - breaking crowd of over 100,000 tramped around the grounds Monday, investigators painstakingly went over the wreckage of the carnival ride that tumbled people from gondolas to the ground Sunday. Two died in the accident. Three others are listed in serious condition at Lincoln hospitals.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt said, "I don't know what the official reports will show, but from everyone I have talked to there certainly was no indication of negligence on anyone's part."

Rusk Reaffirms U.S. Policies For Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk reaffirmed the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam today in a statement observing the 11th anniversary of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

"I hope no government in the world," Rusk said, "will make the mistake of doubting that the United States will make good on its commitments in Southeast Asia."

Rusk said the eight-nations of SEATO "are better prepared than ever to defend the region collectively."

Canton Man, 23, Held For Slaying Another

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A 23-year-old Canton man was held without formal charge today in the shooting death of another man here Monday night.

Police said charges would be filed against Frank Hale, who is accused of killing Charles Best, 23, of Canton in an argument over a woman at the woman's home.

Newell Cubs Plan For Sept. 25 Fete

Plans for "Kum See Us" Day, to be held Sept. 25 at Clark Field, were discussed during a committee meeting of Newell Club Pack 10 Friday night at the Jefferson School.

The Cubs will display their craft work to the public at the event.

Art DeLong, cubmaster, asked that all dens begin meetings next week.

The committee decided to renew the insurance for the coming year.

Mrs. Janet Keller, committee chairman, reported on the recent rummage sale.

DeLong requested that all boys wear their uniforms on Sept. 24, Uniform Day.

65 Slated To Attend Meeting Of Bankers

About 65 are expected to attend Wednesday night's meeting of the Columbiana County Bankers Association Wednesday night at the Country Club here.

Dr. A. M. Paxson of the Economic and Business Foundation of New Wilmington, Pa., will be the speaker. He will discuss "The European Common Market—Its Impact On Our American Economy."

D. R. McGillivray, vice president of the Potters Bank and Trust Co. and president of the county organization, will preside.

Soda Ash Price Hiked

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Diamond Alkali Co. announced a price increase of $2 a ton today on all grades of soda ash, effective Oct. 1. The company said this was the first increase in nine years.

Minister Will Speak At Clarkson Meeting

The Rev. Robert I. Moore will be guest speaker during a meeting of the Clarkson Women's Association tonight at 7:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Evalyn Hauserman will be the leader. Mrs. Verda Johnson and Mrs. Ruth Daiger are the hostesses.

The association will operate a lunch stand at an auction sale Saturday on the Sprucevale Rd.

Summitcrest Stock Gains More Honors

SUMMITVILLE — More honors have come to the prize stock of Summitcrest Farms at Summitville.

"Angus Glen," owned by Summitcrest, was named the bull calf champion during judging at the Ohio State Fair which closed Sunday in Columbus.

Earlier, "Summitcrest Blackcap" had been selected as senior champion heifer in the Ohio Angus Association Show at the recent Madison County Fair at London.

The grand champion Angus bull at the state fair was "Ballot 35 of HT" owned by the Rocky Creek Ranch of LaGrange, Tex.

Entries in the Aberdeen Angus division were vieing for a portion of $6,570 and the honors that go with championships.

Osteopathic Hospital Treats 3 Youngsters

Three youngsters were treated for minor injuries Monday afternoon at Osteopathic Hospital.

John Woodruff, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins Woodruff of R. D. 1, was treated for lacerations of the first and third toes on the right foot, when his foot slipped under a power mower.

Michelle Laney, 4 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laney of R. D. 3, Rogers, was treated for a laceration of the scalp, sustained when a radio fell on her, and Tammy Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Patterson of Ridge Ave., Steubenville, was treated for a dog bite on the upper lip.

Bank's Branch Opens; 2,000 At Open House

NEGLEY — The Negley branch of the First National Bank of East Palestine opened officially today after an open house Sunday and Monday during which some 2,000 inspected the new quarters.

Mrs. Sandra Glendenning of East Liverpool was winner of a $25 savings bond.

Dean Boyd of Negley, who had been employed in the main office, is the manager.

One of the best ways to protect your home against winter weather damages, says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, is to apply caulking compound. Some of the most common places needing caulking compound are around the outside of the house — window frames, door sills, door frames, wall joints and wood gutters.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

The New Emmies

The first Emmies-with-a-new-look are about to be handed out.

Apparently their new shape has put largely to rest a TV industry controversy which erupted last year over whether they signified anything worth accepting.

Richard Doan

The gilded statuettes — TV's equivalent of the movie Oscars — won't physically look any different. The new look is a psychological one arising from the fact that the winners this time have been chosen by "blue ribbon" panels rather than the TV academy's general membership.

-:-

FURTHERMORE, rigid award categories — "best comedy series," "best actor in a dramatic special," etc. — have been abolished.

Academy officials are so chary at this point about the decisions of the judges that not only are the winners not being disclosed in advance, which is standard operating procedure, but the number of Emmies to be handed out during a 90-minute NBC telecast next Sunday night is not being told.

"It's not safe to say there will be fewer awards than in the past," is all the academy's Peter Cott would say. Cott is administrative assistant to the academy president, TV playwright Rod Serling.

THE LAST EMMIES were handed out in May last year after two of the networks, ABC and CBS, along with CBS News, had boycotted them on various critical grounds, all questioning their validity.

Subsequently the two networks returned to the fold, but CBS News President Fred W. Friendly has continued to shun participation, contending awards in the non-entertainment area should be made only by a "separate professional institution."

The academy says its Emmies will be conferred this time strictly on a merit basis, wherever earned.

A long list of nominees for the forthcoming Emmies has been published. It offers few clues. The names of prospective winners run the gamut from Leonard Berstein, Barbra Streisand, Julie Harris and Alfred Lunt to little-known production people.

-:-

So far no one on the nominee list has declined to show up for the ceremonies, Cott reported. He noted that, "unhappily," there are no nominees from CBS News.

The awards will cover the year-plus beginning April 13, 1964, and ending April 30, 1965.

As in the past, the Emmy telecast will be a two-coast affair, with Sammy Davis Jr. this time emceeing the New York end from the Hilton Hotel and Danny Thomas holding the Hollywood fort from the Palladium.

The "presenters" will include Carol Burnett, Danny Kaye, Garry Moore and David McCallum, among others.

COTT SAID he believes the celebrants at the Hilton will number close to 1,200, which would be a record New York turnout.

He said he believes the principal difference between this telecast and previous ones is that there will be more "entertainment elements." Also, he added, "there will be much greater emphasis on showing excerpts from nominated programs and performances."

The show, however, will be in black and white rather than color, because NBC remote equipment for color will be tied up elsewhere.

"Both we and NBC are sorry," Cott reported.

It will be the 11th time around on NBC for the Emmies, and the last under a current five-year contract. The academy hopes to induce the three networks to rotate the annual program among them in the future.

This undoubtedly is another way in which the academy is attempting to dispel any suspicions of bias in its awards.

AT NBC, Robert Bendick, producer of next Sunday's show, reported that one of the entertainment features will be a quartet composed of Robert Coote ("The Rogues"), Robert Reed ("The Defenders"), Shirl Conway ("The Nurses") and James Franciscus ("Mr. Novak") singing a ditty about how, now that their shows have been dropped, they can go out and practice their fictional professions.

Sammy Davis and Danny Thomas will join in a musical review - of - the - year, accompanied by the Ray Charles Singers.

Bendick characterized the planned show over-all as "a little less formal" than those of the past.

Marines Use Tear Gas In Cave Action

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Members of a U.S. Marine Corps unit used tear gas Sunday to remove women and children from tunnels and caves where Viet Cong suspects had taken refuge, a U.S. military spokesman disclosed today.

The civilians — along with the Communists suspects — suffered only crying from the effects of the tear gas, the spokesman said.

The commander of the battalion involved was said to have called for the use of tear gas on his own authority. The spokesman said he did not know why the commander had taken the action, adding that he may not have been aware of a policy against the use of tear gas or any other gas here.

Accident Probed At Nebraska Fair

LINCOLN, Neb (AP) — The cause of the collapse of an aerial ride at the Nebraska State Fair remained a mystery today.

While a record - breaking crowd of over 100,000 tramped around the grounds Monday, investigators painstakingly went over the wreckage of the carnival ride that tumbled people from gondolas to the ground Sunday. Two died in the accident. Three others are listed in serious condition at Lincoln hospitals.

Fair Manager Henry Brandt said, "I don't know what the official reports will show, but from everyone I have talked to there certainly was no indication of negligence on anyone's part."

Rusk Reaffirms U.S. Policies For Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk reaffirmed the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam today in a statement observing the 11th anniversary of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

"I hope no government in the world," Rusk said, "will make the mistake of doubting that the United States will make good on its commitments in Southeast Asia."

Rusk said the eight-nations of SEATO "are better prepared than ever to defend the region collectively."

Canton Man, 23, Held For Slaying Another

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A 23-year-old Canton man was held without formal charge today in the shooting death of another man here Monday night.

Police said charges would be filed against Frank Hale, who is accused of killing Charles Best, 23, of Canton in an argument over a woman at the woman's home.

Newell Cubs Plan For Sept. 25 Fete

Plans for "Kum See Us" Day, to be held Sept. 25 at Clark Field, were discussed during a committee meeting of Newell Club Pack 10 Friday night at the Jefferson School.

The Cubs will display their craft work to the public at the event.

Art DeLong, cubmaster, asked that all dens begin meetings next week.

The committee decided to renew the insurance for the coming year.

Mrs. Janet Keller, committee chairman, reported on the recent rummage sale.

DeLong requested that all boys wear their uniforms on Sept. 24, Uniform Day.

Summitcrest Stock Gains More Honors

SUMMITVILLE — More honors have come to the prize stock of Summitcrest Farms at Summitville.

"Angus Glen," owned by Summitcrest, was named the bull calf champion during judging at the Ohio State Fair which closed Sunday in Columbus.

Earlier, "Summitcrest Blackcap" had been selected as senior champion heifer in the Ohio Angus Association Show at the recent Madison County Fair at London.

The grand champion Angus bull at the state fair was "Ballot 35 of HT" owned by the Rocky Creek Ranch of LaGrange, Tex.

Entries in the Aberdeen Angus division were vieing for a portion of $6,570 and the honors that go with championships.

Osteopathic Hospital Treats 3 Youngsters

Three youngsters were treated for minor injuries Monday afternoon at Osteopathic Hospital.

John Woodruff, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins Woodruff of R. D. 1, was treated for lacerations of the first and third toes on the right foot, when his foot slipped under a power mower.

Michelle Laney, 4 - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laney of R. D. 3, Rogers, was treated for a laceration of the scalp, sustained when a radio fell on her, and Tammy Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Patterson of Ridge Ave., Steubenville, was treated for a dog bite on the upper lip.

Bank's Branch Opens; 2,000 At Open House

NEGLEY — The Negley branch of the First National Bank of East Palestine opened officially today after an open house Sunday and Monday during which some 2,000 inspected the new quarters.

Mrs. Sandra Glendenning of East Liverpool was winner of a $25 savings bond.

Dean Boyd of Negley, who had been employed in the main office, is the manager.

One of the best ways to protect your home against winter weather damages, says the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, is to apply caulking compound. Some of the most common places needing caulking compound are around the outside of the house — window frames, door sills, door frames, wall joints and wood gutters.

She married Amos Selavan in Israel. They have a 7-year-old son, who attends Hillel Academy, and a 2-year-old daughter. Her husband is clinical psychologist at Torrance State Hospital, Pa.

Mrs. Leo Greenburg, president, will preside during the business session.

Congress

bigger battle over the farm bill, due to be taken up after action on $1.2 billion in supplementary funds for the Labor and Welfare departments.

The Senate Agriculture Committee set the stage for the fight last week.

It approved a measure not only drastically different from the one already approved by the House, but with wheat and cotton provisions vigorously opposed by the administration.

The committee also agreed unanimously to hook on another highly combustible provision already drawing fire: a plan aimed at making it cheaper for the Soviet Union to buy wheat from the United States.

The proposal would make it the sense of Congress that the government should scrap a requirement that half the wheat sales to the Soviet Union be shipped in U.S. merchant ships which charge rates higher than other nations.

The chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., expressed belief the Senate would accept the plan but questioned whether the House would without a sales pitch from Johnson.

As a sign of the trouble ahead, Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., charged the administration was embarking on a "feed the enemy" program through "behind-the-scenes administration plans to subsidize the Soviet Union through the sale of surplus wheat."

In addition to a variety of minor bills, the House is confronted, probably Wednesday, with the troublesome foreign aid appropriation. This year it has a $4.1-billion price tag.

The Social -:- Notebook

Lt. and Mrs. John L. Cookinham III were honored with a reception Friday evening in the social rooms of the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church.

Mrs. Cookinham is the former Miss Jeanine Rea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rea of Erie St. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Cookinham of Newport, R. I.

They were married in a military ceremony May 29 at Ft. Riley, Kan. A 1963 graduate of East Liverpool High School, Mrs. Cookinham was formerly employed as a receptionist at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex. Her husband was graduated from the University of Rhode Island and was commissioned in the Army Corps of Engineers. She will reside in San Diego, while her husband is serving in Viet Nam.

Refreshments were served at a buffet table decorated in a pink and white theme. The centerpiece was a three-tier cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple. Tall pink, lighted tapers, encircled with wedding bells and pink ribbons, completed the setting.

The gift table was decorated with two large bouquets of white and pink gladiolus, arranged by Mrs. Leo Lawrence.

Aides were Mrs. Kathryn Baldwin, Mrs. Earl Lawrence, Mrs. James Anderson, Mrs. Jean Farnsworth, Mrs. Sue Connor, Mrs. June Deets and Miss Linda Bosworth.

Miss Jane Boram registered guests from Pittsburgh, Toronto, Sugar Grove and Wellsville.

Pakistani Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto announced he was calling on Pakistan's allies in the Central Treaty Organization to fulfill their treaty pledge of help against an aggressor.

Britain, Turkey and Iran are the other full members of the alliance, and the United States is closely associated with it and has bilateral defense agreements with the members. The alliance was organized as a defense against communism, and some British officials doubted that their government would go to Pakistan's aid since both Pakistan and India are members of the British Commonwealth.

Neither India nor Pakistan had formally declared war but their leaders told their people a war was on.

In New Delhi, an Indian government spokesman said: "We have no information about such an offer."

Teacher From Pittsburgh Will Speak At Hadassah

Mrs. Ida Selavan of Pittsburgh will present the program for the opening fall session and "paid-up membership party" of East Liverpool Chapter of Hadassah Monday night at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Paul Tobin of Monticello Pl.

Born and reared in Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Selvan received her bachelor of arts degree from Brooklyn College. She did graduate work at Dropsie College, Philadelphia, and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

She was employed as assistant editor of English publications at the Jewish National Fund head office at Jerusalem. A licensed Hebrew teacher, she has taught for 15 years and at present is a member of the faculty at the Hebrew Institute Teacher Training and College of Jewish Studies at Pittsburgh. She is also qualified to teach high school level English, doing so in Chicago and Israel.

Mrs. Selavan became active in Hadassah in 1961 while living in Indiana, Pa. Previously, she worked for Junior Hadassah in Chicago. She has been associated with the Zionist Movement since childhood and now is serving her third term as regional publicity chairman. She also is active in the Hillel Academy Women's Club as editor of "The Recorder."

MRS. IDA SELAVAN
Will Appear Here Monday.

She married Amos Selavan in Israel. They have a 7-year-old son, who attends Hillel Academy, and a 2-year-old daughter. Her husband is clinical psychologist at Torrance State Hospital, Pa.

Mrs. Leo Greenburg, president, will preside during the business session.

Congress

bigger battle over the farm bill, due to be taken up after action on $1.2 billion in supplementary funds for the Labor and Welfare departments.

The Senate Agriculture Committee set the stage for the fight last week.

It approved a measure not only drastically different from the one already approved by the House, but with wheat and cotton provisions vigorously opposed by the administration.

The committee also agreed unanimously to hook on another highly combustible provision already drawing fire: a plan aimed at making it cheaper for the Soviet Union to buy wheat from the United States.

The proposal would make it the sense of Congress that the government should scrap a requirement that half the wheat sales to the Soviet Union be shipped in U.S. merchant ships which charge rates higher than other nations.

The chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., expressed belief the Senate would accept the plan but questioned whether the House would without a sales pitch from Johnson.

As a sign of the trouble ahead, Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., charged the administration was embarking on a "feed the enemy" program through "behind-the-scenes administration plans to subsidize the Soviet Union through the sale of surplus wheat."

In addition to a variety of minor bills, the House is confronted, probably Wednesday, with the troublesome foreign aid appropriation. This year it has a $4.1-billion price tag.

Man Jailed On $14 Theft, Posing As Police Officer

A 23-year-old Salineville potter was sentenced to two 30-day jail terms today in Municpial Court on charges of defrauding an elderly woman of $10 by impersonating a police officer, then stealing $14 from the home of a Beechwood man who befriended him.

John William Bridge, 194 E. Main St., pleaded guilty to the charge of posing as a police officer and was convicted of the second count of taking a wallet from the home of Howard Hall of Center St., Beechwood.

Bridge told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff both incidents resulted from drinking. He said he never had been arrested before. Bridge told the court he is employed at the Homer Laughlin China Co., but has been laid off for two months.

Capt. Robert H. Pyle explained the charges against Bridge in testimony on both counts.

He said the police department received a telephone call at 1:48 this morning from an elderly woman who said a man representing himself as a policeman knocked on her door about 11 Monday night, told her she was playing her radio too loudly and she would be penalized $25.

The woman said the "officer" finally agreed to settle for $5 when she told him she did not have $25. She said she gave him a $10 bill because she did not have any other currency in the house and the man promised to return with the $5 change and a receipt.

She called the police department when he did not reappear. The woman gave a full description of the man who posed as an officer, Capt. Pyle said.

Police were unable to find the suspect, but about 5:30 this morning they received a complaint from Hall that Bridge had stolen a wallet with $14 from underneath a mattress in Hall's home, police said.

Officers picked up Bridge for the theft. Noting that he fitted the description of the man who had cheated the elderly woman, they questioned him about the earlier episode and he made an admission, Capt. Pyle said.

Hall told the judge he never had seen Bridge before they met by chance in a tavern. Hall said he called a taxi to go home and Bridge went along with him, asking to sleep until dawn at Hall's house. Hall agreed and made up a bed for the defendant, he said.

When Hall noted the disappearance of the wallet, he called the police department.

"I would not have done it if I had not been drinking," Bridge told the court. "I didn't know what I was doing."

Lonely Sable

One of the loneliest inhabited isles in the world lies only 100 miles southeast of Nova Scotia.

This is Sable Island, a foggy and storm - whipped ghostly sliver of sand that is often called the "Graveyard of the Atlantic." Its total population is 13 people and 200 wild ponies.

"Only in mid-July for a three-week period is the weather calm and surf low enough to permit small boats to land on beaches," writes Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the National Geographic Society.

With its underwater sand bars, Sable forms a 50-mile menace to mariners, though the isle itself is only 23 miles long and scarcely a mile wide. Since 1800 more than 200 ships have met disaster on Sable's treacherous sands. Perhaps 300 more ships were wrecked there earlier.

REV. HOOTS
He's Preaching Nightly.

Revival Services Being Conducted

Revival services, which open Monday, will continue through Sunday at the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. Bob F. Hoots of Columbia, Ky., is the evangelistic, with services being held nightly beginning at 7:30.

As a pastor and evangelist, he has devoted a lifetime to Christian work.

He began preaching as a teenager in Kentucky, his home state.

He served as pastor of Nazarene churches in Highway, Ky., Butler, Mo., and at the Wornall Church of the Nazarene in Kansas City, Mo., before entering the field of evangelism.

Rev. Hoots was graduated from Union College, Barbourville, Ky., and also attended Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla. He was president for two years of the Kentucky District Young People's Council and was ordained in that District.

The Rev. B. Edwin McDonald is pastor of the LaCroft Church.

Highway Patrol Reports Mishaps

A city motorist was cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance after a rear-end auto collision Sunday at 9:15 p. m. on Route 30, two-tenths a mile south of Route 7 according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said a car operated by Raymond Leroy Newlen, 44, of 1024 Church St. hit the rear of another driven by Francisco Lilona, 25, of Steubenville.

Lilona was stopped to make a left turn into a private driveway, officers reported.

Charles A. Hilditch, 29, of 1027 Avondale St. reported to the post his car and another were involved in a collision on a curve on the Westfield Rd. Monday at 2 p. m.

Hilditch and a daughter, Jana L. Hilditch, 6, were examined at City Hospital, but had no apparent injuries.

Officers are investigating.

Judges Eye Ban On Klan's Rights Moves

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A fight to enjoin the Ku Klux Klan from anti-civil rights activities in Bogalusa, La., was before a federal court today.

The Justice Department suit against the secret Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was assigned to a special three-judge session. There were 38 defendants.

The suit said the Klan used assaults, threats and harassment to discourage Negroes from seeking constitutional rights—and has a its goal total segregation and white supremacy.

The Klan also brought pressure on public officials or business "who accord or seek to accord Negroes their rights," the suit said.

In Bogalusa, some 70 miles north of New Orleans, militant segregationists said defendants and friends would move to New Orleans in a motorcade.

Defendants hired Ocie Brown, a Baton Rogue lawyer, and two of his associates to fight the case.

Brown also represents Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, a white man charged with murder in the killing of Washington Parish's first Negro deputy, Oneal Moore, June 2.

Moore was killed by terrorists in a pickup truck who fired into his squad car as he and another Negro deputy were on patrol near Bogalusa. McElveen is free on bond.

Bogalusa, relatively quiet lately, had two demonstrations Monday. About 145 Negroes staged a protest march. Shortly afterward, about 3,000 whites gathered at the airport for a rally by the Bogalusa Anti-Communist Christian Association.

No incidents were reported.

Pacific Sailor Called To Draft Examination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Meigs, 24-year-old Californian who sailed the South Pacific lost, sick and alone for 130 days, returned to San Francisco Monday —for his draft physical.

On April 12, he sailed from Pago Pago intending to go to California via Honolulu. He became ill and sailed in circles for a month. Then he discovered his mistake and headed back to Pago Pago, but two harsh storms tore most of his sails to shreds. He finally limped into Pago Pago Aug. 20.

Brother, Sister Held For Cincinnati Thefts

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police arrested a teen-age brother and sister here early today after they had been slightly wounded by shotgun pellets when discovered allegedly burglarizing a garage.

Police identified the pair as Mrs. Catherine Coldiron, 19, and George Hodge, 17.

Robert Neidling, 52, said he fired at the brother and sister when he saw them in his garage. Officers said the pair had obtained eight spark plugs and a sweater from the garage.

Volta And Volt

A shocking fad developed in France's royal court during the 18th century.

The nobles and their ladies passed the time between affaires d'amour by giving each other merry little jolts with a novel machine that generated an electric charge. No one in the candlelit age knew of anything better to do with electricity, the National Geographic Society says.

But in 1745, a dozen years after the curious fad started amid the splendor of the French court, an important event took place in a poor home in the Lombard town of Como: Alessandro Volta was born.

At first, Alessandro seemed so dull - witted that his family despaired; he spoke not a word until he was four years old. When he grew into manhood, however, his ingenious experiments with the phenomenon that amused the French nobles ushered in the age of electric power and made his name an everyday word in many languages.

Today the volt is the standard unit of electrical potential, and Volta's name is also honored by the Volta Bureau, the world's leading information center about deafness. The Bureau is located in Washington D.C. and it was founded by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell after he received the Volta Prize from France for his invention of the telephone.

2 Accidents Investigated

Two traffic accidents over the holiday weekend were reported by Chester police today.

A 1963 westbound auto driven by William Mountjoy, 48, of 326 Carolina Ave., Chester, was struck by a 1964 car being backed from a driveway by Joseph T. Hawley, 23, of Augusta, Ga., about 9 a. m. Sunday.

The mishap occurred on Indiana Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. Hawley was cited for improper backing by Chief Harold Davis, who investigated.

A chain - reaction accident occurred Saturday night at the intersection of 5th St. and Carolina Ave.

Police said a 1955 eastbound auto driven by Ed Wilcoxen, 67, of Burgettstown struck the rear of a 1965 compact car operated by Mary Louise Cox, 36, of Salineville. The Cox vehicle was pushed by the impact into the rear of a third vehicle which had stopped for the traffic light at the intersection. The driver was not identified.

Miss Cox, whose auto received an estimated $500 damage, complained of neck and back pains, but did not request hospital treatment.

The accident was timed at 8 p. m.

Kenneth Williams, special officer who investigated, charged Wilcoxen with failure to have his vehicle under control. Wilcoxen posted $15.50 appearance bond prior to a hearing Sept. 18 before Mayor Harry Abrams.

He's Salineville Potter

Man Jailed On $14 Theft, Posing As Police Officer

A 23-year-old Salineville potter was sentenced to two 30-day jail terms today in Municpial Court on charges of defrauding an elderly woman of $10 by impersonating a police officer, then stealing $14 from the home of a Beechwood man who befriended him.

John William Bridge, 194 E. Main St., pleaded guilty to the charge of posing as a police officer and was convicted of the second count of taking a wallet from the home of Howard Hall of Center St., Beechwood.

Bridge told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff both incidents resulted from drinking. He said he never had been arrested before. Bridge told the court he is employed at the Homer Laughlin China Co., but has been laid off for two months.

Capt. Robert H. Pyle explained the charges against Bridge in testimony on both counts.

He said the police department received a telephone call at 1:48 this morning from an elderly woman who said a man representing himself as a policeman knocked on her door about 11 Monday night, told her she was playing her radio too loudly and she would be penalized $25.

The woman said the "officer" finally agreed to settle for $5 when she told him she did not have $25. She said she gave him a $10 bill because she did not have any other currency in the house and the man promised to return with the $5 change and a receipt.

She called the police department when he did not reappear. The woman gave a full description of the man who posed as an officer, Capt. Pyle said.

Police were unable to find the suspect, but about 5:30 this morning they received a complaint from Hall that Bridge had stolen a wallet with $14 from underneath a mattress in Hall's home, police said.

Officers picked up Bridge for the theft. Noting that he fitted the description of the man who had cheated the elderly woman, they questioned him about the earlier episode and he made an admission, Capt. Pyle said.

Hall told the judge he never had seen Bridge before they met by chance in a tavern. Hall said he called a taxi to go home and Bridge went along with him, asking to sleep until dawn at Hall's house. Hall agreed and made up a bed for the defendant, he said.

When Hall noted the disappearance of the wallet, he called the police department.

"I would not have done it if I had not been drinking," Bridge told the court. "I didn't know what I was doing."

Lonely Sable

One of the loneliest inhabited isles in the world lies only 100 miles southeast of Nova Scotia.

This is Sable Island, a foggy and storm - whipped ghostly sliver of sand that is often called the "Graveyard of the Atlantic." Its total population is 13 people and 200 wild ponies.

"Only in mid-July for a three-week period is the weather calm and surf low enough to permit small boats to land on beaches," writes Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the National Geographic Society.

With its underwater sand bars, Sable forms a 50-mile menace to mariners, though the isle itself is only 23 miles long and scarcely a mile wide. Since 1800 more than 200 ships have met disaster on Sable's treacherous sands. Perhaps 300 more ships were wrecked there earlier.

REV. HOOTS
He's Preaching Nightly.

Revival Services Being Conducted

Revival services, which open Monday, will continue through Sunday at the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. Bob F. Hoots of Columbia, Ky., is the evangelistic, with services being held nightly beginning at 7:30.

As a pastor and evangelist, he has devoted a lifetime to Christian work.

He began preaching as a teenager in Kentucky, his home state.

He served as pastor of Nazarene churches in Highway, Ky., Butler, Mo., and at the Wornall Church of the Nazarene in Kansas City, Mo., before entering the field of evangelism.

Rev. Hoots was graduated from Union College, Barbourville, Ky., and also attended Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla. He was president for two years of the Kentucky District Young People's Council and was ordained in that District.

The Rev. B. Edwin McDonald is pastor of the LaCroft Church.

Highway Patrol Reports Mishaps

A city motorist was cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance after a rear-end auto collision Sunday at 9:15 p. m. on Route 30, two-tenths a mile south of Route 7 according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Officers said a car operated by Raymond Leroy Newlen, 44, of 1024 Church St. hit the rear of another driven by Francisco Lilona, 25, of Steubenville.

Lilona was stopped to make a left turn into a private driveway, officers reported.

Charles A. Hilditch, 29, of 1027 Avondale St. reported to the post his car and another were involved in a collision on a curve on the Westfield Rd. Monday at 2 p. m.

Hilditch and a daughter, Jana L. Hilditch, 6, were examined at City Hospital, but had no apparent injuries.

Officers are investigating.

Like almond flavoring in a frosting for cake? For a frosting made with two cups of confectioners sugar and about two tablespoons of hot milk, you may want to add as much as a teaspoon of the almond flavoring.

Judges Eye Ban On Klan's Rights Moves

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A fight to enjoin the Ku Klux Klan from anti-civil rights activities in Bogalusa, La., was before a federal court today.

The Justice Department suit against the secret Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was assigned to a special three-judge session. There were 38 defendants.

The suit said the Klan used assaults, threats and harassment to discourage Negroes from seeking constitutional rights—and has a its goal total segregation and white supremacy.

The Klan also brought pressure on public officials or business "who accord or seek to accord Negroes their rights," the suit said.

In Bogalusa, some 70 miles north of New Orleans, militant segregationists said defendants and friends would move to New Orleans in a motorcade.

Defendants hired Ocie Brown, a Baton Rogue lawyer, and two of his associates to fight the case.

Brown also represents Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, a white man charged with murder in the killing of Washington Parish's first Negro deputy, Oneal Moore, June 2.

Moore was killed by terrorists in a pickup truck who fired into his squad car as he and another Negro deputy were on patrol near Bogalusa. McElveen is free on bond.

Bogalusa, relatively quiet lately, had two demonstrations Monday. About 145 Negroes staged a protest march. Shortly afterward, about 3,000 whites gathered at the airport for a rally by the Bogalusa Anti-Communist Christian Association.

No incidents were reported.

Pacific Sailor Called To Draft Examination

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Meigs, 24-year-old Californian who sailed the South Pacific lost, sick and alone for 130 days, returned to San Francisco Monday —for his draft physical.

On April 12, he sailed from Pago Pago intending to go to California via Honolulu. He became ill and sailed in circles for a month. Then he discovered his mistake and headed back to Pago Pago, but two harsh storms tore most of his sails to shreds. He finally limped into Pago Pago Aug. 20.

Brother, Sister Held For Cincinnati Thefts

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police arrested a teen-age brother and sister here early today after they had been slightly wounded by shotgun pellets when discovered allegedly burglarizing a garage.

Police identified the pair as Mrs. Catherine Coldiron, 19, and George Hodge, 17.

Robert Neidling, 52, said he fired at the brother and sister when he saw them in his garage. Officers said the pair had obtained eight spark plugs and a sweater from the garage.

Wednesday And Thursday

Funeral Services Are Set For Three Crash Victims

Services have been arranged for three East Liverpool residents who were killed in a two-car collision Sunday afternoon on Route 7 near here.

Mrs. Moore And Son

Double services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Arner Chester Chapel for Mrs. Statira (Statie) O. Moore, 39, of LaCroft and her 10-month-old son, David Moore.

Evangelist Frank Higgenbotham will officiate. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Wednesday at the funeral home.

Mrs. Moore was dead on arrival Sunday afternoon at City Hospital, while her son died about 20 minutes later from injuries in the crash which also killed a North Side girl, Rosalind Richards, and critically injured Mr. Moore and Fred Brenneman of Allison St., the girl's companion.

Mrs. Moore was born June 1, 1926, in Chester to Grover Newman and Irene Williams Newman, who now reside on 3rd St., Chester. She was a member of the Virginia Ave. Church of Christ.

Besides her husband and parents, she is survived by three other sons, Harvey Richard Moore in the Navy, Charles Dewey Moore and William Everett Moore, both at home; a daughter, Irene Florence Moore, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Oakey (Bernice) Leiasure, Mrs. Paul (Estle) Jordan and Mrs. Curtis (Myrtle) Sayre, all of Chester, and Mrs. Harold (Eunice) Moore of Dixonville, and three brothers, George B. Newman of Chester, Richard B. Newman of Newell and John P. Newman of Augusta, Ga.

Her infant son was born Nov. 5, 1964.

Besides his father, three brothers and a sister, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Newman, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Moore of Chester.

Rosalind Richards

Services for Rosalind Rae Richards, 938 Princeton Ave., will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the St. Clair Ave. Church of Christ. She was 16.

Charles Hendershot of Athens, former minister, will officiate. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call this afternoon and night at the Martin Funeral Home.

Miss Richards was born April 24, 1949, in East Liverpool to Raymond J. Richards and Norma R. Williamson Richards. She would have been a junior at East Liverpool High School.

She was a member of the St. Clair church, the ELHS Concert Choir, president of the French Club, and had been commended at honor assemblies for scholastic achievement.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Miss Gayle Richards, at home, and her paternal grandfather, Robert R. Richards of East Liverpool.

Deaths and Funerals

Edwin Anderson

Edwin J. (Ted) Anderson, 64, of East Liverpool R. D. 1, died Saturday at 9 p. m. at Salem City Hospital following a long illness.

He was born April 11, 1901, in St. Clair Township to the late Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson. A farmer, he was a member of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Grace Souders of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Miss Wilda Anderson of Massillon.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m at the Warrick Funeral Home in Columbiana by the Rev. Robert Moore. Burial will be in Clarkson Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Deaver C. Dewell

Deaver C. Dewell, 76, of Los Angeles, a former Chester resident, died Sunday at Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Mr. Dewell spent most of his life in Chester, moving to California in 1957.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Dewell; two daughters, Mrs. Gwen Blackburn of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. C. Graham of Chester, and four sons, Jerry Dewell of Iberia, Mo., Frank Dewell and Richard Dewell of Los Angeles, and Jack Dewell of Wintersville.

Services and burial will be in California.

Michael Molchan

Michael A. Molchan, 76, of 1102 N. 5th St., Toronto, died at 5:55 p.m. Sunday at St. John's Hospital in Steubenville.

He was born May 19, 1889, in Czechoslovakia, son of the late Mike Molchan and Sophie Karaffa Molchan. He was a retired foreman at the Peerless Clay Co. in Port Homer.

Mr. Molchan was a member of St. Joseph's Byzantine Rite of Toronto and the Greek-Catholic Union Lodge of Homestead, Pa.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Molchan, at home; four sons, Nicholas Molchan of Columbus, John Molchan and Paul Molchan, both of Toronto, and Michael Molchan of East Liverpool; a daughter, Mrs. Mike (Magdelene) Kolonick of Cleveland; two brothers, John Molchan of Lisbon and William Molchan of Cleveland; 16 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Parastas services will be conducted Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Turel Funeral Home in Toronto. Requiem High Mass will be celebrated Thursday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church, with the Rev. Michael Mokris officiating. Burial will be at Toronto Union Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Fred H. Freimuth

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fred H. Freimuth, 64, died Sunday night at his home in Dayton.

An employe of the National Cash Register Co., Mr. Freimuth is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maude Boyles Freimuth, formerly of New Cumberland, and a sister, Mrs. Arlene Timms.

Services were held today in Dayton. The body will be returned Wednesday to the Fields Funeral Home here, where friends may call tomorrow afternoon and night.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home by the Rev. Allen S. Fields, pastor of the Christian Church. Burial will be in Union Cemetery, Pughtown.

Jennie Garvin

BEAVER FALLS — Miss Jennie Louella Garvin, 92, of Beaver Falls R. D. 1 died Monday morning at Beaver Valley General Hospital in New Brighton, where she had been a patient for three weeks.

She was born Sept. 2, 1873, in Chippewa Township to William Garvin and Mary McCloy Garvin. She was a member of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Darlington for 74 years.

Her only survivors are cousins.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Campbell Funeral Home, 2618 Darlington Rd., in Chippewa Township. Burial will be in Highland Cemetery at Ohioville.

Friends may call after 7 tonight at the funeral home.

Joseph F. Barnhouse

Joseph F. Barnhouse, 2624 St. Clair Ave., died Monday at 4 a. m. at City Hospital, where he has been a patient for 11 weeks. He was 81.

Mr. Barnhouse was born in Wood County, W. Va., March 8, 1884, and had resided in this vicinity for about 56 years. He was employed for 42 years as a machinist at the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., retiring about 20 years ago. He was a member of the St. Clair Ave. Church of Christ.

He is survived by his widow, Nancy Huffman Barnhouse; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Azdell of East Liverpool; a brother, Charles Barnhouse of Ocala, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Ethel Lyons of East Liverpool; a grandchild, and two great - grandchildren.

He was a former East Liverpool resident.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Pepin, Mrs. Barbara Thomas and Miss Millie Moore; a sister, Mrs. Marie Glenn of Glendale, Calif.; a brother, Paul C. Moore of Greensboro, N.C., and six grandchildren.

Certain young animals play games that are favorites with children. Lambs and gibbons like to play "follow the leader."

Rangers Plan Rescue Of 21 In Zion Park

ZION NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — Park rangers prepared to enter Zion Narrows gorge today to rescue 21 persons stranded by the flooding Virgin River — and to find five Californians who disappeared hiking out.

Two 16-year-old Utah boys swam and waded out late Monday and said the stranded party included four children between 5 and 9 years old and more than 10 women and children. The boys said all were safe, but provisions were running low.

Forty-two persons were missing under the gorge's towering walls three days ago when the Virgin River flashed through the bottom of Zion's deep and narrow crack in the southern Utah desert after a storm.

Sixteen have found their way out.

The two Utah boys — Mark Richsteig of Cedar City and Scott Atkin of Bountiful — said the five missing Californians left a gorge-bottom camp early Monday.

The boys said they were able to track them part way along the gorge bottom, but then lost their footprints. The Californians weren't out by nightfall.

Stamps In The News

THE 4-CENT U.S. Census Bureau commemorative postal card will have first - day ceremonies Oct. 21 in Philadelphia to mark the 175th anniversary of a government bureau that grew apace with the country. The first census report contained 56 pages. The 1960 census needed 100,000 pages.

The design shows the left portion as a mass of faces. To the right is a portion of a punch card on which the Census Bureau tabulates information of vital signififance.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may submit orders to the Postmaster, Philadelphia, Pa. 19104 with remittance to cover the cost which is 4 cents. Orders must be postmarked no later than Oct. 21.

Eire has announced the issuance of its stamp honoring the International Cooperation Year and simultaneously the 20th anniversary of the United Nations.

The Irish stamp will be in two denominations, 3 pence and two shillings. The design is the one recommended by the U.N., featuring the clasped hands inset in a wreath. The stamp will also have the words "Bliain Chomhair Idir naisiunta 1965," which mean "International Cooperation Year 1965" in Irish.

First-day cover collectors in this country may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 E. 32 St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210. Cost of a complete set on a special cover is 75 cents.

BERMUDA HAS commemorated the 50th anniversary of Scouting in Bermuda by issuing a new 2 shilling multicolored stamp, reports the Crown Agents Bureau. The stamp features the Scout symbol of fleur de lis and the royal crown linked by the initial words of the Scout's pledge, "On My Honor."

The dates 1915-1965 appear on top of the stamp. The first Boy Scout Troop in Bermuda was formed in January 1915 on Ireland Island and the second troop in Hamilton in 1918. In 1927 the first Wolf Cub Pack was formed. Today three are 20 troops of which nine are Sea Scouts.

Also announced by the Australian News & Information Bureau is the issuance of a new 5-pence stamp honoring the 50th anniversary of the death of Lawrence Hargrave, aviation pioneer and explorer. The new stamp depicts a portrait of Hargrave and a fascimile of his own sketch for the seaplane he built in 1902 — his fourth full - size aircraft. Hargrave's problem was the lack of a powerful engine necessary for a heavier-than-air machine — an honor which fell to the Wright Brothers in 1903.

210 EAST FOURTH ST. DIAL 385-4545

Wednesday And Thursday

Funeral Services Are Set For Three Crash Victims

Services have been arranged for three East Liverpool residents who were killed in a two-car collision Sunday afternoon on Route 7 near here.

Mrs. Moore And Son

Double services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Arner Chester Chapel for Mrs. Statira (Statie) O. Moore, 39, of LaCroft and her 10-month-old son, David Moore.

Evangelist Frank Higgenbotham will officiate. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Wednesday at the funeral home.

Mrs. Moore was dead on arrival Sunday afternoon at City Hospital, while her son died about 20 minutes later from injuries in the crash which also killed a North Side girl, Rosalind Richards, and critically injured Mr. Moore and Fred Brenneman of Allison St., the girl's companion.

Mrs. Moore was born June 1, 1926, in Chester to Grover Newman and Irene Williams Newman, who now reside on 3rd St., Chester. She was a member of the Virginia Ave. Church of Christ.

Besides her husband and parents, she is survived by three other sons, Harvey Richard Moore in the Navy, Charles Dewey Moore and William Everett Moore, both at home; a daughter, Irene Florence Moore, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Oakey (Bernice) Leiasure, Mrs. Paul (Estle) Jordan and Mrs. Curtis (Myrtle) Sayre, all of Chester, and Mrs. Harold (Eunice) Moore of Dixonville, and three brothers, George B. Newman of Chester, Richard B. Newman of Newell and John P. Newman of Augusta, Ga.

Her infant son was born Nov. 5, 1964.

Besides his father, three brothers and a sister, he is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Newman, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Moore of Chester.

Rosalind Richards

Services for Rosalind Rae Richards, 938 Princeton Ave., will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the St. Clair Ave. Church of Christ. She was 16.

Charles Hendershot of Athens, former minister, will officiate. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call this afternoon and night at the Martin Funeral Home.

Miss Richards was born April 24, 1949, in East Liverpool to Raymond J. Richards and Norma R. Williamson Richards. She would have been a junior at East Liverpool High School.

She was a member of the St. Clair church, the ELHS Concert Choir, president of the French Club, and had been commended at honor assemblies for scholastic achievement.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Miss Gayle Richards, at home, and her paternal grandfather, Robert R. Richards of East Liverpool.

Deaths and Funerals

Edwin Anderson

Edwin J. (Ted) Anderson, 64, of East Liverpool R. D. 1, died Saturday at 9 p. m. at Salem City Hospital following a long illness.

He was born April 11, 1901, in St. Clair Township to the late Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson. A farmer, he was a member of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Grace Souders of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Miss Wilda Anderson of Massillon.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m at the Warrick Funeral Home in Columbiana by the Rev. Robert Moore. Burial will be in Clarkson Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Deaver C. Dewell

Deaver C. Dewell, 76, of Los Angeles, a former Chester resident, died Sunday at Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Mr. Dewell spent most of his life in Chester, moving to California in 1957.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Dewell; two daughters, Mrs. Gwen Blackburn of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. C. Graham of Chester, and four sons, Jerry Dewell of Iberia, Mo., Frank Dewell and Richard Dewell of Los Angeles, and Jack Dewell of Wintersville.

Services and burial will be in California.

Michael Molchan

Michael A. Molchan, 76, of 1102 N. 5th St., Toronto, died at 5:55 p.m. Sunday at St. John's Hospital in Steubenville.

He was born May 19, 1889, in Czechoslovakia, son of the late Mike Molchan and Sophie Karaffa Molchan. He was a retired foreman at the Peerless Clay Co. in Port Homer.

Mr. Molchan was a member of St. Joseph's Byzantine Rite of Toronto and the Greek-Catholic Union Lodge of Homestead, Pa.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Molchan, at home; four sons, Nicholas Molchan of Columbus, John Molchan and Paul Molchan, both of Toronto, and Michael Molchan of East Liverpool; a daughter, Mrs. Mike (Magdelene) Kolonick of Cleveland; two brothers, John Molchan of Lisbon and William Molchan of Cleveland; 16 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Parastas services will be conducted Wednesday at 8 p. m. at the Turel Funeral Home in Toronto. Requiem High Mass will be celebrated Thursday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Joseph's Church, with the Rev. Michael Mokris officiating. Burial will be at Toronto Union Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Fred H. Freimuth

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fred H. Freimuth, 64, died Sunday night at his home in Dayton.

An employe of the National Cash Register Co., Mr. Freimuth is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maude Boyles Freimuth, formerly of New Cumberland, and a sister, Mrs. Arlene Timms.

Services were held today in Dayton. The body will be returned Wednesday to the Fields Funeral Home here, where friends may call tomorrow afternoon and night.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home by the Rev. Allen S. Fields, pastor of the Christian Church. Burial will be in Union Cemetery, Pughtown.

Jennie Garvin

BEAVER FALLS — Miss Jennie Louella Garvin, 92, of Beaver Falls R. D. 1 died Monday morning at Beaver Valley General Hospital in New Brighton, where she had been a patient for three weeks.

She was born Sept. 2, 1873, in Chippewa Township to William Garvin and Mary McCloy Garvin. She was a member of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Darlington for 74 years.

Her only survivors are cousins.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Campbell Funeral Home, 2618 Darlington Rd., in Chippewa Township. Burial will be in Highland Cemetery at Ohioville.

Friends may call after 7 tonight at the funeral home.

Joseph F. Barnhouse

Joseph F. Barnhouse, 2624 St. Clair Ave., died Monday at 4 a. m. at City Hospital, where he has been a patient for 11 weeks. He was 81.

Mr. Barnhouse was born in Wood County, W. Va., March 8, 1884, and had resided in this vicinity for about 56 years. He was employed for 42 years as a machinist at the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co., retiring about 20 years ago. He was a member of the St. Clair Ave. Church of Christ.

He is survived by his widow, Nancy Huffman Barnhouse; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Azdell of East Liverpool; a brother, Charles Barnhouse of Ocala, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Ethel Lyons of East Liverpool; a grandchild, and two great - grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by Charles Hendershot of Athens, former minister. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call this afternoon and tonight at the funeral home.

Clarence N. Moore

Word has been received here of the death of Clarence N. Moore, 62, on Sept. 2 at South Nevada Hospital in Las Vegas.

He was a former East Liverpool resident.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Pepin, Mrs. Barbara Thomas and Miss Millie Moore; a sister, Mrs. Marie Glenn of Glendale, Calif.; a brother, Paul C. Moore of Greensboro, N.C., and six grandchildren.

Certain young animals play games that are favorites with children. Lambs and gibbons like to play "follow the leader."

Rangers Plan Rescue Of 21 In Zion Park

ZION NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — Park rangers prepared to enter Zion Narrows gorge today to rescue 21 persons stranded by the flooding Virgin River — and to find five Californians who disappeared hiking out.

Two 16-year-old Utah boys swam and waded out late Monday and said the stranded party included four children between 5 and 9 years old and more than 10 women and children. The boys said all were safe, but provisions were running low.

Forty-two persons were missing under the gorge's towering walls three days ago when the Virgin River flashed through the bottom of Zion's deep and narrow crack in the southern Utah desert after a storm.

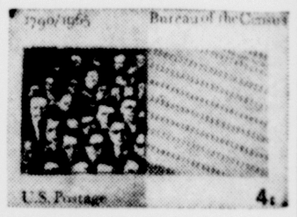

Sixteen have found their way out.

The two Utah boys — Mark Richsteig of Cedar City and Scott Atkin of Bountiful — said the five missing Californians left a gorge-bottom camp early Monday.

The boys said they were able to track them part way along the gorge bottom, but then lost their footprints. The Californians weren't out by nightfall.

Stamps In The News

THE 4-CENT U.S. Census Bureau commemorative postal card will have first - day ceremonies Oct. 21 in Philadelphia to mark the 175th anniversary of a government bureau that grew apace with the country. The first census report contained 56 pages. The 1960 census needed 100,000 pages.

The design shows the left portion as a mass of faces. To the right is a portion of a punch card on which the Census Bureau tabulates information of vital signififance.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may submit orders to the Postmaster, Philadelphia, Pa. 19104 with remittance to cover the cost which is 4 cents. Orders must be postmarked no later than Oct. 21.

Eire has announced the issuance of its stamp honoring the International Cooperation Year and simultaneously the 20th anniversary of the United Nations.

The Irish stamp will be in two denominations, 3 pence and two shillings. The design is the one recommended by the U.N., featuring the clasped hands inset in a wreath. The stamp will also have the words "Bliain Chomhair Idir naisiunta 1965," which mean "International Cooperation Year 1965" in Irish.

First-day cover collectors in this country may write to Irish Cachet Covers, 947 E. 32 St., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210. Cost of a complete set on a special cover is 75 cents.

BERMUDA HAS commemorated the 50th anniversary of Scouting in Bermuda by issuing a new 2 shilling multicolored stamp, reports the Crown Agents Bureau. The stamp features the Scout symbol of fleur de lis and the royal crown linked by the initial words of the Scout's pledge, "On My Honor."

The dates 1915-1965 appear on top of the stamp. The first Boy Scout Troop in Bermuda was formed in January 1915 on Ireland Island and the second troop in Hamilton in 1918. In 1927 the first Wolf Cub Pack was formed. Today three are 20 troops of which nine are Sea Scouts.

Also announced by the Australian News & Information Bureau is the issuance of a new 5-pence stamp honoring the 50th anniversary of the death of Lawrence Hargrave, aviation pioneer and explorer. The new stamp depicts a portrait of Hargrave and a fascimile of his own sketch for the seaplane he built in 1902 — his fourth full - size aircraft. Hargrave's problem was the lack of a powerful engine necessary for a heavier-than-air machine — an honor which fell to the Wright Brothers in 1903.

Sex Angle Plagues New Equal Job Rights Agency

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sex angle in employment threatens to provide a network of side issues for the agency originally created to ensure equal treatment for Negro job-seekers.

"We're still in the confusion stage," an Equal Employment Opportunity Commission official said today.

He was referring to the organizational problems which face any new bureau, but the description also might be applied to the commission's first steps over uncharted legal ground.

Significantly, a decision on whether to permit separate "help wanted" ads for men and women was delayed for weeks. Commission Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. appointed a committee representing employers, employment agencies, women's organizations and newspapers to offer suggestions.

Sources close to the commission said it now has decided to permit "separate but equal" ads. An employer may advertise jobs for men and women separately.

Barring further snags, guidelines on want ads will be announced in a few days.

There was wide disagreement within the committee. A closed session last week was described as "pretty steamy."

Newspaper representatives reportedly argued heatedly for the separate ads.

Roosevelt previously had said that the commission would not tolerate ads which specify "colored" or "white."

An official said a relatively small percentage of the 800 complaints received so far involved alleged discrimination against women. Some 325 were recommended for investigation. 123 were referred to state or local commissions. 142 were sent to other federal agencies and 200 were rejected.

Many of the rejected complaints involved alleged discrimination because of physical handicap or age — two areas which are outside the commission's jurisdiction.

Reds Reject Nuclear Plan

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union offered today to join the West in a ban on all underground nuclear tests but again rejected an international control and inspection system to police the ban.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17 - nation disarmament conference the Russians are prepared to sign a formal treaty extending the Moscow limited test-ban treaty to those large underground tests which can be identified by existing national control systems.

Tsarapkin linked his offer with a demand for a simultaneous "moratorium" on all other underground tests.

Tsarapkin reiterated that the Soviet Union would not accept any kind of on-site inspection to police the ban.

The Western powers have repeatedly rejected similar Soviet suggestions in the past, saying there is no way to distinguish at long range between the shock tremors of a small nuclear blast and those of a natural earthquake.

Brown Plans Bid For Dad's Office

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — Clarence J. Brown Jr. will seek the congressional seat held for 27 years by his father, who died last month.

The 38-year-old Urbana newspaper publisher and radio station operator announced his candidacy today for the Republican nomination in the special primary election scheduled Sept. 21. He was the sixth Republican to enter the race for the vacant 7th District seat.

No Democrats have yet announced plans to enter the primary. The deadline for filing petitions is Saturday.

The newest candidate heads the Brown Publishing Co. which has newspapers in Urbana, Lebanon and Miamisburg and a radio station in Urbana.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise; I hope my idea will help solve the problem for mothers whose little girls love to "dress-up" . . .

Our little girls are ages 6, 4 and 2, and just love to play house and dress up. . .with their mother's things, of course!

To save wear and tear on mother's clothes, I go to the church rummage sales.

I buy pocketbooks, small-sized high heel shoes, old jewelry, and even old evening gowns which can be cut down easily. These things are so cheap that I buy extra ones so there will be no arguments when they have friends in.

My little daughters are so happy with their own dress-up things, that they don't get into mine any more.

SUZANNE S. SOGER.

DEAR HELOISE: I love making instant coffee your way. For an added lift, I put a teaspoon of instant, prepared cocoa in each cup, and it gives the coffee a kind of mocha taste—and is absolutely delicious.

ANNE SANNEMANN.

The best way we have found to make instant coffee (after testing many methods), is one which came from a famous restaurant:

Let your water come to a rolling boil, then put in your instant coffee, being sure your pan is large enough, because it will boil up into many bubbles. Stir with a spoon, and let the coffee come to a rolling boil again. Then, turn off the fire and let it set three minutes. This is M-m-m, real good.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I finally discovered a way to put long zippers in tight-fitting dresses, so that the zippers will fit smoothly:

I sew the zippers into place, BEFORE sewing the front and back of the dress together. This take less time, fewer pins, and does not have to be re-fitted.

Also works on other garments.

ESTHEW DEW.

DEAR HELOISE: What would you do if you found yourself about ready to scream because your house was in such a mess?

MOTHER.

I would call you, my friend!

Wish I was there, Sugar! We'd have fun picking up the big pieces, wouldn't we?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: There have been several suggestions for filling the space between the stove and counter top, but I think I have found the best way.

I bought a metal strip, made especially for this purpose, from my linoleum dealer.

One can also buy a metal sink rim (used for counter-sunk kitchen sinks), and just cut the length needed.

KITCHEN AID.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: Here's another use for your nylon net!

I have always preferred to wash my hair at the kitchen sink but my husband was forever having to clean the drain pipe.

Finally, he suggested that I protect the drain with nylon net. I place the net over the drain stop, and as the water runs through, the loose hair collects on top.

No more clogged drains for us!

DEAR HELOISE: After running out of stamps, I found some on envelopes which I had spoiled.

I dampened an old wash cloth, folded it four times, and put it over the stamps, I placed a hot iron over on the cloth, leaving it there for a few seconds.

When I removed the heated cloth, the stamps came right off the envelope.

Egg white or glue can be used on the backs of the stamps to make them stick again.

Bullet Hurts Man In Airplane Over Cedar Point Site

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — A bullet that smashed through the window of a light plane and nicked Paul Askue on the neck might have killed the Cleveland man if it had not been slowed by the plexiglass window, the plane's pilot said.

Askue, 26, had taken off with a girl friend after chartering the single-engine plane at Griffing Airport here Monday. The plane was 400 feet over Sandusky Bay when the bullet hit.

The pilot, Don Mather of Avon, turned around, and Askue was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital, where doctors found that the wound was not serious, even though there had been considerable blood.

Mather and another pilot took off again to find where the shots came from. Mather spotted two boys in a boat in a marsh near the Cedar Point Causeway and notified sheriff's deputies, who met the boys' boat when it came ashore.

Deputies said two Columbus boys, aged 16 and 17, were in the boat with a .22-caliber rifle. The boys told the officers they had been shooting at seagulls.

Deputy Wilbur Beier said ballistics tests will be run on the weapon and on the flattened bullet found on the seat of the plane.

Youths Serve Coffee To Holiday Motorists

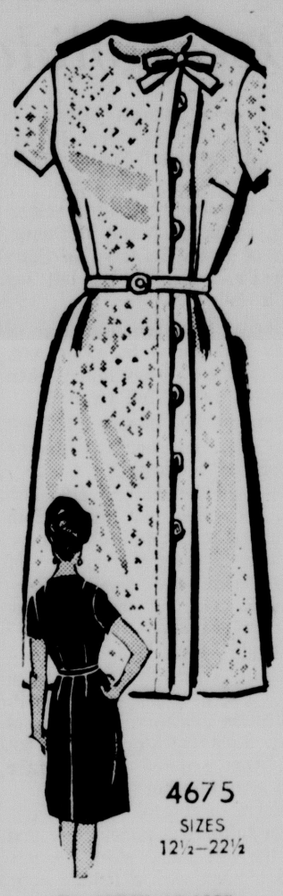

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — High school seniors spent several hours handing out free coffee and doughnuts to holiday motorists on Interstate 90 Monday.

The teen-agers thought up the project themselves, class officers said, and went to local merchants for donations.

Some 1,200 travelers were served refreshments in a 10-hour period at rest areas on the freeway.

No one knows who first smelted metals, but archeologists have found pieces of man-made iron that are nearly 5,000 years old.

IZMIR, Turkey (AP)—A U. S. Air Force airman from Columbus, Ohio, died here Monday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car.

Killed was Airman 2.C. Clarence Van Houten, 21, stationed at Cigki Airbase near here.

Pennsylvania Eyes Plan On Apportioning

HARRISBURG (AP) — Both House floor leaders have expressed the hope that a compromise still is possible in the tangled dispute over legislative reapportionment.

However, the particulars to a mutually satisfactory solution would have to wait until a six-man Conference Committee representing both the House and Senate sit down in earnest discussion today in Harrisburg.

"I'm optimistic," said House majority leader Joshua Eilberg. "There are some areas of compromise."

Republican minority leader Kenneth B. Lee commented:

". . . I'm still hopeful that we can get it compromised."

The Conference Committee, equally divided politically, is working under a Sept. 9 Supreme Court deadline to reach an agreement.

The court last week granted an eight - day extension for new negotiations after its original Sept. 1 order for reapportionment on an equal population base passed without a bill enacted into law.

The Conference Committee is considering one bill which contains reapportionment plans for both the House and Senate.

The measure originally was a Senate compromise version of redistricting for that chamber. However, the Democratic House added its own plan to the Senate bill, plus amendments to the Senate plan, and sent it back to the upper chamber.

The issue was put to the Conference Committee when the Republican Senate refused to accept the House additions and revisions.

Eilberg indicated the three Democrats on the Conference Committee would not accept House Republican demands that the 15 per cent population variance be increased to 25 per cent in seven proposed districts.

The committee members spent their Labor Day holiday at home familiarizing themselves, they said, with the specifics of the combined proposal.

Gambia is the 28th African nation to achieve independence since 1957.

Officers Check 3 Theft Reports

East Liverpool police today are investigating three minor thefts reported Monday night and early this morning.

Mrs. Rebecca Carpenter of the Y. & O. Rd., Glenmoor, told police a wallet containing an identification card and photos was stolen from her purse while she was at the Cooties Club on W. 4th St. between 1 and 1:30 this morning.

Richard Beach of Virginia Ave., Chester, reported a brief case was stolen from his parked auto on Broadway between 10:45 and 11:10 p. m. Monday. It contained bills of sale for horses and two check books, he said.

N. D. Alpern, 1414 Pennsylvania Ave., reported last night at 7:30 an intruder entered his scrap yard at Railroad and Belleek Sts. between 7:30 p. m. Saturday and 9:30 p. m. Sunday, taking the transmission for a 1953 model car.

Ohio Pilot Injured

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ben C. Sprague, 38, owner of Sprague Excavating, Inc., was injured and his new four-passenger airplane was demolished Monday when the craft crashed on landing at a private landing strip behind Sprague's home in suburban Strongsville. Sprague was reported in fair condition at Southwest Community Hospital in Berea.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I came to this country with my husband 14 years ago. America has been very good to us. We are citizens now and we feel a deep sense of loyalty to our adopted land.

A woman I work with hates foreigners. Once I heard her making fun of the way I speak. I know I do not speak perfect English but I'm learning in night school and I hope to do better.

This woman does not like to see people from other countries make a success of their lives. When she learned that my husband and I are taking a trip next month to visit our families on the other side she said, "Those foreigners have money for everything. They sure know how to get their hands on our dollars."

I don't know how to answer her when she says such things. Surely she must realize that nobody gave us anything except a chance, which Americans get also. Can you suggest an answer to set her straight?—A CITIZEN.

Dear Citizen: Don't bother. The woman isn't interested in an answer. She needs someone to hate and you're it.

America is a great country because of the willing hands and dedicated hearts that came here from other parts of the world. Unless the woman with the loose lip is an American Indian, her ancestors also migrated here from a foreign country.

Most native-born Americans do NOT resent foreigners — it's only the malcontents and the small minds who must place the blame for their own failures on someone else.

Hiding Wives

Dear Ann: Recently you printed a letter signed "From Georgia" commenting on women who undress in the closet. I have a few comments of my own to add.

My husband was married to one of those screwballs for 18 years. After raising his two children he walked out. We have three sons and another child on the way. I'm 40. He is 50. You'll look a long time before you find a marriage better than ours.

If some of those frigid bedboards would unwind they'd make their husbands a lot happier. They might find, too, that their husbands wouldn't ogle every leggy waitress in a tight uniform.

Men who are married to closet-hiders get to be like small boys who want to "look." Sick? You bet. And they can thank those walking glaciers who call themselves wives. — GLENCOE.

-:-

Dear Glencoe: I doubt that your comments will smoke out the closet-hiders. They consider themselves "properly modest" and insist that your breed is "exhibitionistic." Sick? You bet. And they can thank their mothers.

Saltwater Taffy

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has fallen head over heels for a 17-year-old fellow I met at a religious camp.

We only had two weeks together but it was heaven. Daryle asked me to correspond with him so I wrote a letter the minute I got home. I began, "Dear Daryle" and signed off, "Oceans of love with a kiss on each wave."

His answer arrived today and I felt like a sap. He started his letter, "Hi there" and ended with, "So long for now, old Buddy."

I didn't think my letter was overly mushy, but maybe it was. How should I start my next letter and how should I finish it?—MISS OVERDID IT.

-:-

Dear Miss: "Dear Daryle," was okay, but you closed with too much love and too many kisses for a growing boy. Finish the next letter with "Sincerely" and sign yourself "Old Buddy." If he continues to treat you like one of the boys, I suggest you save your stamps.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tinkerbelle Gets 'Worse Dunking' In Lake Mishap

CLEVELAND (AP) — Robert Manry and his 13½-foot sailboat Tinkerbelle, which he sailed across the Atlantic Ocean to Falmouth, England, this summer, took a dunking Monday in Lake Erie, and Manry said it was "worse than any in the Atlantic."

The mishap occurred while Tinkerbelle was being towed ashore by motorboat to escape dangerously high winds and eight-foot waves. The rudder scraped the bottom, the tow line broke and a wave hit at the same time as the boats were entering a channel off the mouth of the Chagrin River.

Manry was tossed overboard, and water poured into the cabin—something Manry said never happened to Tinkerbelle on the Atlantic. Of course, Manry never had to worry about scraping bottom on the Atlantic, either.

When Manry got the boat ashore, several sightseers began asking for autographs.

"I think this must be the first time people wanted autographs from a shipwrecked sailor," Manry quipped.

Manry had taken the boat out to pose for pictures for photographers from a national magazine (Life).

Hearing Due Woman Held In Boy's Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Mariann K. Colby, 40-year-old Shaker Heights housewife who has admitted firing the bullet that killed one of her son's playmates, was to appear today at a preliminary hearing on a first-degree murder charge.

Mrs. Colby, who told police John Cremer Young Jr., 8, was shot accidentally, has been in Cuyahoga County Jail since last Thursday, when she pleaded innocent to the murder charge.

The boy was killed Aug. 24, and his body was found in a wooded area in Gates Mills, 10 miles from his home.

Cut crisp rolls in half lengthwise and butter the cut sides; add a layer of cole slaw and one of fried oysters as the filling for an unusual sandwich.

Rep. Fry Seeks 7th District Seat

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Someone outside of Greene County has finally has entered the Republican sweepstakes for the congressional nomination in Western Ohio's Seventh District.

State Rep. Charles E. Fry of Springfield, a former state senator, got in the race late Monday. He is president of a construction firm.

Earlier in the day Robert Allen Clark of Bellbrook, Greene County, an interior designer, got into the race. Before that, Greene Countians John Peterson, former county chairman, and Lowell Fess, former state senator and now secretary of the State Personnel Board of Review, had indicated their intention of seeking the post held for 27 years by the late Clarence J. Brown.

The primary election will be held Sept. 21 with the deadline for filing petitions Sept. 11.

Everett Bivens Ends Career With Gas Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Everett D. Bivens will retire Oct. 1, ending a 36-year career with the Columbia Gas System.

He is now president and member of the board of directors of three Columbia companies with headquarters here — Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.; the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Bivens, who announced his retirement plans Monday, joined Columbia in 1929 as executive accountant.

A good way to keep sandwiches for a party is to place them in a shallow pan, cover them with a damp cloth and refrigerate.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I came to this country with my husband 14 years ago. America has been very good to us. We are citizens now and we feel a deep sense of loyalty to our adopted land.

A woman I work with hates foreigners. Once I heard her making fun of the way I speak. I know I do not speak perfect English but I'm learning in night school and I hope to do better.

This woman does not like to see people from other countries make a success of their lives. When she learned that my husband and I are taking a trip next month to visit our families on the other side she said, "Those foreigners have money for everything. They sure know how to get their hands on our dollars."

I don't know how to answer her when she says such things. Surely she must realize that nobody gave us anything except a chance, which Americans get also. Can you suggest an answer to set her straight?—A CITIZEN.

Bucs Sweep Reds, Trail By 4; Giants Edge Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tension filled the air as the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers met for the first time since the Juan Marichal-John Roseboro bat-swinging incident.

However, the only thing that filled the air at the end was cushions. And the most serious problem turned out to be an elusive shovel.

The crowd of 53,581 at Los Angeles filled the air with seat cushions in a display of frustration as the Giants edged the National League leading Dodgers 7-6 in 12 innings on Jim Davenport's run-producing bloop single.

Davenport's game winning hit came an inning after players milled around for about five minutes while the umpires and the ground crew tried to locate a shovel to take care of a request by Dodger reliever Ron Perranoski, who wanted a hole on the mound leveled out.

That was taken care of once the shovel finally was located but in the 12th Howie Reed, Perranoski's successor put himself in a hole he couldn't get out of.

With one out and pitcher Frank Linzy on with a single, Matyt Alou grounded to second. Linzy was forced but Reed, covering on the return throw, failed to touch first base in an attempt at a doubleplay that would have ended the inning.

Alou then stole second, Willie Mays was purposely passed and Davenport dropped a hit into left center, Alou racing across the plate as Roseboro watched.

Marichal, who hit Roseboro over the head with a bat when the teams met 15 days before, was banned from making the trip to Los Angeles under orders from National League President Warren Giles but the Dodger was much in evidence.

Roseboro collected three hits, including a disputed homer that had the Giants howling in the seventh inning. Roseboro's long drive bounced back on the field and the Giants contended the ball was still in play.

The Giants lost the argument but won the ball game and pulled to within one game of the front-running Dodgers as Cincinnati and Milwaukee dropped to third, 1½ games off the pace.

Fifth-place Pittsburgh closed to within four of the top by beating the Reds in both ends of a doubleheader 3-1 and 4-2 while the Braves inched up with 4-2 and 3-1 victories over the New York Mets.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia crushed St. Louis 10-5 after taking a 10-3 walloping in the opener and Houston shaded the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in a single game.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the opener when Pete Rose let Bill Mazeroski's grounder go through his legs and Gene Alley doubled him home. Bob Veale scattered nine Cincinnati hits, struck out 12 and lifted his record to 15-10.

The Reds' Jim Maloney, now 17-7, had the Pirates shut out on two hits in the nightcap until they erupted in the seventh inning with Willie Stargell slugging a three-run double.

Rico Carty swung the big bat for the Braves in the opener against the Mets, rapping out three hits, including a homer and a two-run double. In the nightcap, the Braves got the job done on Joe Torre's two-run single in the third inning.

Phil Niekro finished up both games, preserving Hank Fischer's seventh victory against six losses in the first and putting the Mets down in the nightcap as Wade Blasingame collected his 16th victory against nine defeats.

The Cardinals broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning of the opener when Julian Javier singled and Bob Tolan doubled, then put it out of reach with a six-run seventh built on Lou Brock's three-run homer and Phil Gagliano's two-run shot.

The Phillies came back in the nightcap behind rookie Adolfo Phillips, who smashed a homer and three doubles and scored four runs. The homer was Phillips' first.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer in the sixth inning lifted Houston past the Cubs as Turk Farrell scattered five hits in a duel with loser Larry Jackson.

Chisox Keep Hopes Alive Cut Twins Lead To 4½ Games

Leaders Split With A's; Pascual Shelled In Comeback Bid

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

P is for Pennant, Pascual and Problem.

B is for Beeline, Burgess and Berry.

The Minnesota Twins, who had been cruising toward the American League pennant, suddenly have found themselves with a problem or two — a slight skid and Camilo Pascual.

Chicago, meanwhile, continued its beeline toward the Twins with clutch help from Smoky Burgess and Ken Berry in a 4-3 and 2-1 sweep of the Los Angeles Angels Monday.

The double triumph shot the second-place White Sox to within 4½ games of the Twins, who lost to Kansas City 4-3 after winning 8-6.

The victories also gave the White Sox 21 victories against seven defeats, a .750 percentage, since Aug. 13. In that same period, the Twins have played .500 ball, splitting evenly in 26 games and allowing Chicago to storm from fifth place, 11½ games back to their present position.

Minnesota, whose lead hasn't been so small in six weeks, hoped to receive some pitching help from Pascual, who returned Monday after undergoing arm surgery Aug. 2.

"If he can go four or five innings, it will be great," Manager Sam Mele said before the game. "That will mean he's ready to help us in the stretch drive."

But Pascual, twice a 20-game winner, didn't go four or five. He lasted only 1 2-3 innings in the opener, being battered by the Athletics for five runs.

The White Sox, meanwhile, came from behind for both of their victories. They won the first game in the 10th inning on pinch hitter Smoky Burgess' run-scoring single. The blow was the 113th career pinch hit for Burgess, who set the major league record earlier in the season.

Berry, a .214 hitter, provided the punch in the nightcap. He doubled in the third inning and scored on Jack Sanford's wild pitch, tied the game 3-3 with a homer in the seventh, then led off the ninth with a single and raced home with the winning run as Aubrey Gatewood fired a bases-loaded wild pitch.

In other AL games, Baltimore swept New York 2-1 and 6-2, Cleveland took Washington 5-3 and 4-3 and Boston defeated Detroit 4-1.

New York's Whitey Ford suffered his first loss after 10 victories at Yankee Stadium as Baltimore won the opener behind Sam Bowens' fourth-inning, tie-breaking home run and Dick Hall's four perfect innings of relief pitching.

Andy Etchebarren lashed a three-run inside-the-park homer and Curt Blefary connected with one for the Orioles' second-game victory. Jim Palmer and Stu Miller shut out the Yankees in eight innings of relief.

Rocky Colavito went past the 1,000 runs batted in mark in the opener, driving in three with a pair of singles as the Indians downed Washington.

Leon Wagner paced the second-game triumph, collecting three hits and knocking in a run. Luis Tiant held the Senators hitless until the sixth inning but needed relief help from Steve Hargan in the eighth after Washington rallied for three runs.

Earl Wilson set down Detroit on six hits and received support from Dalton Jones as Boston ran its winning streak to four games. Jones rapped three hits, including a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

HEAD OVER HEELS in his work is Chicago White Sox shortstop Ron Hansen who falls head first into the tarpaulin cage after catching a foul ball off the bat of Angels' Vic Power in the 10th inning of the first game Monday at Chicago. (UPI Telephoto)

Bucs Whoop It Up After Knocking Off Reds In Twin Bill

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who had just taken some of the "oomph" out of the Cincinnati Reds' pennant drive, were acting as though they won the National League flag.

"Well, this makes things a little nicer," shouted Manager Harry Walker over the noise in the Pirates' dressing room Monday.

The Pirates were whooping it up over their Labor Day sweep of a doubleheader from the Reds, 3-1 and 4-2.

The outcome caused another reshuffling in the standings. Cincinnati dropped from second place into a third place tie with Milwaukee, 1½ games back of the leading Los Angeles Dodgers. The fourth-place Pirates climbed to within four games of the Dodgers.

The seventh inning proved fatal to the Reds in both games. Pete Rose's two-base error paved the way for Gene Alley to double home what proved to be the winning run in the first game. Willie Stargell's three-run double was the payoff wallop in the nightcap.

The Pirates got a big assist in the second game from the Cincinnati pitchers, who walked 11 men. Two of the walks preceded Stargell's double. Pittsburgh got another run in the eighth on four straight passes.

Manager Dick Sisler of the Reds said "the double loss hurt, but it won't stop us. We certainly are not out of this pennant race yet."

Sisler moaned over his injury list. "It hurts with Gordy Coleman, Don Pavletich and Vada Pinson out of the lineup. It's just not the same club."

Pinson sat out Monday because of a stomach ailment. Coleman and Pavletich are both nursing pulled muscles. Pitcher Joe Nuxhall is also out with a sore elbow.

Tommy Helms continued his sensational play for the Reds. The rookie shortstop knocked in Cincinnati's only run in the first game with a single. He batted in a run in the second game, also with a single.

Jim Maloney, who has won 17, was tagged with his seventh loss in the second game. The right-hander worked seven innings and issued seven walks.

Joey Jay took the setback in the opener, while Bob Veale we the distance for Pittsburgh, striking out 12.

Sammy Ellis and Don Cardwell are scheduled as the opposing pitchers for tonight's game.

Local Dog Gains Honors At Beaver

The Shetland Sheep Dog Select Princess Gidget CD owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith of Wellsville swept a group of honors Saturday in the Beaver County Kennel Dog Show staged at Brady's Run Park.

Gidget took first place in the open class and went on to be winner's bitch. Taking first place in the local class, Gidget went on to best of breed and finished second in the local working group and also placed fourth in the open class of obedience.

A total of 451 dogs were entered.

Nixon Named To Replace Parker

PITTSBURGH (AP) — One thing is certain, whatever the Pittsburgh Steelers do this year in the National Football League, they'll do under a new head coach — Mike Nixon.

The 53-year-old former head coach of the Washington Redskins, was signed to a one-year contract Monday, replacing Raymond K. (Buddy) Parker, who resigned Sunday.

"Every player came to me to shake hands," Nixon, who was Parker's top aide, said at the Steelers training camp at Kingston, R.I. The signing was announced in Pittsburgh.

Steeler owner Art Rooney said:

"We had to act quickly. And it had to be one of the present assistants because of the opening of the NFL season in two weeks (Sept. 19). I had a meeting with all four and announced the decision to go with Mike. That's for this year. We'll let the future take care of itself."

Parker, 51, took over the Steelers' helm in 1957 and was unable to guide them to a division title — something they have failed to win in 31 years. On Saturday the team lost its fourth exhibition in as many games, bowing 23-9 to the San Francisco 49ers.

Nixon coached the Redskins in 1959-60 and his teams compiled a 4-18-2 record. After the 1960 season he was dismissed and joined the Steelers' staff for the second time.

Chiefs Even Playoff With Jets At 2-2

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Chiefs have squared their International League playoff series with the pennant winning Columbus Jets but the Toronto Maple Leafs swept their series with Atlanta from the playoffs.

In Monday's games, Syracuse won a 12-inning marathon from Columbus 6-5 on a walk with the bases loaded and Toronto ousted Atlanta 4-3 on a ninth-inning homer.

Bill Tuttle's two-run single tied the score for Syracuse in the ninth and the Chiefs went on to win in the 12th when Ed Hobaugh walked Bob Lipski with the bases loaded to force in the winning run.

Hobaugh entered the game with two on and one out in relief of Doc Ellis and wild pitched the runners along before walking Jackie Moore to load the bases and set the stage for the tie-breaker.

Russ Gibson's homer with two out in the ninth pulled Toronto past Atlanta.

Keane Feels He'll Get Another Chance In '66

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Keane hasn't heard a thing but he has a feeling he'll be back as manager of the New York Yankees next year. All his thinking is pointed toward 1966.

The players feel he should be given another opportunity to prove himself. They believe he hasn't had a real chance this year.

"I'd say Keane hasn't had a chance at all," observed Clete Boyer, the Yankees' third baseman and team player representative.

"He practically started the season with two strikes on him. Ellie Howard got hurt right off and John's been handicapped ever since.

"We've played without Mickey Mantle and Howard a good part of the season and without Roger Maris and Tony Kubek most of the season. Figure there's a run and a half you lose a game when just Maris and Mantle are out at one time.

"Unfortunately, our pitching hasn't been good enough to offset it. We've had only two reliable starters all year and the bullpen has hurt us. We could have won 15 or more games this year if we had any relief pitching at all."

Bucs Sweep Reds, Trail By 4; Giants Edge Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tension filled the air as the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers met for the first time since the Juan Marichal-John Roseboro bat-swinging incident.

However, the only thing that filled the air at the end was cushions. And the most serious problem turned out to be an elusive shovel.

The crowd of 53,581 at Los Angeles filled the air with seat cushions in a display of frustration as the Giants edged the National League leading Dodgers 7-6 in 12 innings on Jim Davenport's run-producing bloop single.

Davenport's game winning hit came an inning after players milled around for about five minutes while the umpires and the ground crew tried to locate a shovel to take care of a request by Dodger reliever Ron Perranoski, who wanted a hole on the mound leveled out.

That was taken care of once the shovel finally was located but in the 12th Howie Reed, Perranoski's successor put himself in a hole he couldn't get out of.

With one out and pitcher Frank Linzy on with a single, Matyt Alou grounded to second. Linzy was forced but Reed, covering on the return throw, failed to touch first base in an attempt at a doubleplay that would have ended the inning.

Alou then stole second, Willie Mays was purposely passed and Davenport dropped a hit into left center, Alou racing across the plate as Roseboro watched.

Marichal, who hit Roseboro over the head with a bat when the teams met 15 days before, was banned from making the trip to Los Angeles under orders from National League President Warren Giles but the Dodger was much in evidence.

Roseboro collected three hits, including a disputed homer that had the Giants howling in the seventh inning. Roseboro's long drive bounced back on the field and the Giants contended the ball was still in play.

The Giants lost the argument but won the ball game and pulled to within one game of the front-running Dodgers as Cincinnati and Milwaukee dropped to third, 1½ games off the pace.

Fifth-place Pittsburgh closed to within four of the top by beating the Reds in both ends of a doubleheader 3-1 and 4-2 while the Braves inched up with 4-2 and 3-1 victories over the New York Mets.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia crushed St. Louis 10-5 after taking a 10-3 walloping in the opener and Houston shaded the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in a single game.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the opener when Pete Rose let Bill Mazeroski's grounder go through his legs and Gene Alley doubled him home. Bob Veale scattered nine Cincinnati hits, struck out 12 and lifted his record to 15-10.

The Reds' Jim Maloney, now 17-7, had the Pirates shut out on two hits in the nightcap until they erupted in the seventh inning with Willie Stargell slugging a three-run double.

Rico Carty swung the big bat for the Braves in the opener against the Mets, rapping out three hits, including a homer and a two-run double. In the nightcap, the Braves got the job done on Joe Torre's two-run single in the third inning.

Phil Niekro finished up both games, preserving Hank Fischer's seventh victory against six losses in the first and putting the Mets down in the nightcap as Wade Blasingame collected his 16th victory against nine defeats.

The Cardinals broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning of the opener when Julian Javier singled and Bob Tolan doubled, then put it out of reach with a six-run seventh built on Lou Brock's three-run homer and Phil Gagliano's two-run shot.

The Phillies came back in the nightcap behind rookie Adolfo Phillips, who smashed a homer and three doubles and scored four runs. The homer was Phillips' first.

Jim Wynn's two-run homer in the sixth inning lifted Houston past the Cubs as Turk Farrell scattered five hits in a duel with loser Larry Jackson.

Chisox Keep Hopes Alive Cut Twins Lead To 4½ Games

Leaders Split With A's; Pascual Shelled In Comeback Bid

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

P is for Pennant, Pascual and Problem.

B is for Beeline, Burgess and Berry.

The Minnesota Twins, who had been cruising toward the American League pennant, suddenly have found themselves with a problem or two — a slight skid and Camilo Pascual.

Chicago, meanwhile, continued its beeline toward the Twins with clutch help from Smoky Burgess and Ken Berry in a 4-3 and 2-1 sweep of the Los Angeles Angels Monday.

The double triumph shot the second-place White Sox to within 4½ games of the Twins, who lost to Kansas City 4-3 after winning 8-6.

The victories also gave the White Sox 21 victories against seven defeats, a .750 percentage, since Aug. 13. In that same period, the Twins have played .500 ball, splitting evenly in 26 games and allowing Chicago to storm from fifth place, 11½ games back to their present position.

Minnesota, whose lead hasn't been so small in six weeks, hoped to receive some pitching help from Pascual, who returned Monday after undergoing arm surgery Aug. 2.

"If he can go four or five innings, it will be great," Manager Sam Mele said before the game. "That will mean he's ready to help us in the stretch drive."

But Pascual, twice a 20-game winner, didn't go four or five. He lasted only 1 2-3 innings in the opener, being battered by the Athletics for five runs.

The White Sox, meanwhile, came from behind for both of their victories. They won the first game in the 10th inning on pinch hitter Smoky Burgess' run-scoring single. The blow was the 113th career pinch hit for Burgess, who set the major league record earlier in the season.

Berry, a .214 hitter, provided the punch in the nightcap. He doubled in the third inning and scored on Jack Sanford's wild pitch, tied the game 3-3 with a homer in the seventh, then led off the ninth with a single and raced home with the winning run as Aubrey Gatewood fired a bases-loaded wild pitch.

In other AL games, Baltimore swept New York 2-1 and 6-2, Cleveland took Washington 5-3 and 4-3 and Boston defeated Detroit 4-1.

New York's Whitey Ford suffered his first loss after 10 victories at Yankee Stadium as Baltimore won the opener behind Sam Bowens' fourth-inning, tie-breaking home run and Dick Hall's four perfect innings of relief pitching.

Andy Etchebarren lashed a three-run inside-the-park homer and Curt Blefary connected with one for the Orioles' second-game victory. Jim Palmer and Stu Miller shut out the Yankees in eight innings of relief.

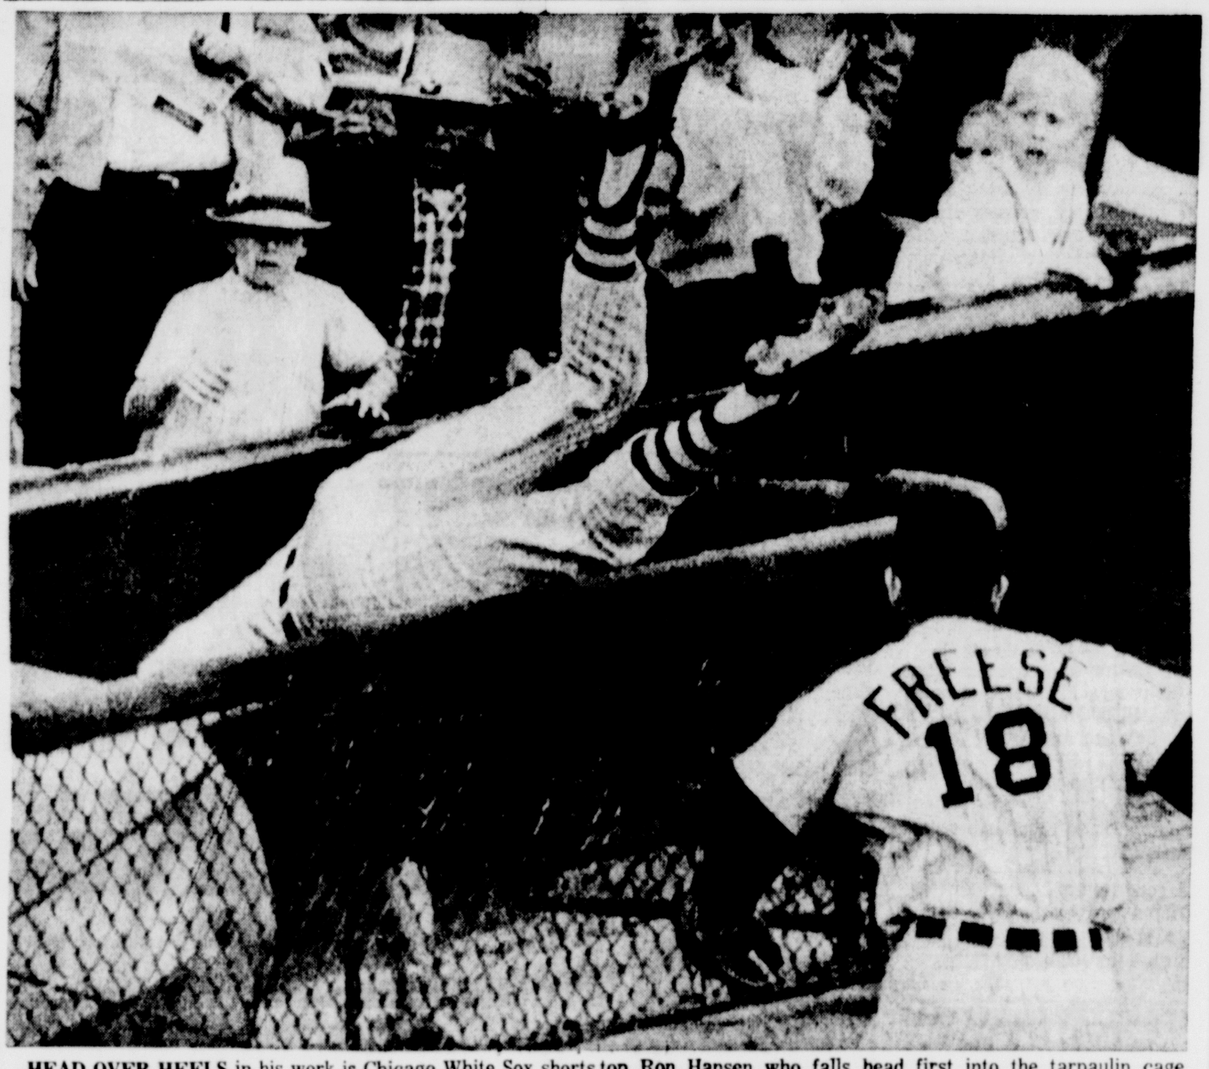

Rocky Colavito went past the 1,000 runs batted in mark in the opener, driving in three with a pair of singles as the Indians downed Washington.

Leon Wagner paced the second-game triumph, collecting three hits and knocking in a run. Luis Tiant held the Senators hitless until the sixth inning but needed relief help from Steve Hargan in the eighth after Washington rallied for three runs.

Earl Wilson set down Detroit on six hits and received support from Dalton Jones as Boston ran its winning streak to four games. Jones rapped three hits, including a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

Bucs Whoop It Up After Knocking Off Reds In Twin Bill

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who had just taken some of the "oomph" out of the Cincinnati Reds' pennant drive, were acting as though they won the National League flag.

"Well, this makes things a little nicer," shouted Manager Harry Walker over the noise in the Pirates' dressing room Monday.

The Pirates were whooping it up over their Labor Day sweep of a doubleheader from the Reds, 3-1 and 4-2.

The outcome caused another reshuffling in the standings. Cincinnati dropped from second place into a third place tie with Milwaukee, 1½ games back of the leading Los Angeles Dodgers. The fourth-place Pirates climbed to within four games of the Dodgers.

The seventh inning proved fatal to the Reds in both games. Pete Rose's two-base error paved the way for Gene Alley to double home what proved to be the winning run in the first game. Willie Stargell's three-run double was the payoff wallop in the nightcap.

The Pirates got a big assist in the second game from the Cincinnati pitchers, who walked 11 men. Two of the walks preceded Stargell's double. Pittsburgh got another run in the eighth on four straight passes.

Manager Dick Sisler of the Reds said "the double loss hurt, but it won't stop us. We certainly are not out of this pennant race yet."

Sisler moaned over his injury list. "It hurts with Gordy Coleman, Don Pavletich and Vada Pinson out of the lineup. It's just not the same club."

Pinson sat out Monday because of a stomach ailment. Coleman and Pavletich are both nursing pulled muscles. Pitcher Joe Nuxhall is also out with a sore elbow.

Tommy Helms continued his sensational play for the Reds. The rookie shortstop knocked in Cincinnati's only run in the first game with a single. He batted in a run in the second game, also with a single.

Jim Maloney, who has won 17, was tagged with his seventh loss in the second game. The right-hander worked seven innings and issued seven walks.

Joey Jay took the setback in the opener, while Bob Veale we the distance for Pittsburgh, striking out 12.

Sammy Ellis and Don Cardwell are scheduled as the opposing pitchers for tonight's game.

Local Dog Gains Honors At Beaver

The Shetland Sheep Dog Select Princess Gidget CD owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith of Wellsville swept a group of honors Saturday in the Beaver County Kennel Dog Show staged at Brady's Run Park.

Gidget took first place in the open class and went on to be winner's bitch. Taking first place in the local class, Gidget went on to best of breed and finished second in the local working group and also placed fourth in the open class of obedience.

A total of 451 dogs were entered.

Ralston Faces Stiff Task In National Tennis Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y (AP)—Dennis Ralston faces Davis Cup teammate Frank Froehling today in the feature match of the National Tennis Championships—and it's a pressure assignment for America's No. 1 player.

"They say I can't win the big ones," Ralston said. "That's not true, of course, but it looks like I'm going to have to prove it. I've got a tough draw from here on out."

The 23-year-old temperamental ace from Bakersfield, Calif., admitted that he had his sights set on one goal — a shot at defending champion Roy Emerson in the finals.

Ralston, a disappointing loser to little-known Juan Gisbert in the Davis Cup matches with Spain recently, was stung by Davis Cup captain George MacCall's criticism that he couldn't win important matches.

Matches today complete the round of 16 in both the men's and women's divisions.

In addition to the Ralston-Froehling match, headliners send young Chuck Pasarell of Puerto Rico, upset winner over the second - seeded Stolle, against Keith Jennings of New Canaan, Conn., and Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y against Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli.

Margaret Smith of Australia, Wimbledon champion and No. 1 seed, plays Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco. The top U.S hope, Nancy Richey of Dallas, seeded No. 3, goes against Peachy Kellmeyer of Charleston, W.Va

Emerson looked almost unbeatable Monday in smashing 18-year-old Cliff Richey, Nancy's kid brother, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0, winning the last 10 games in a row.

He was joined in the fourth round by Spain's fourth-seeded Manuel Santana, who beat James Osborne of Honolulu 6-4, 6-4, 6-3; fifth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles, winner over King Lambert of Bronxville, N.Y., 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, and Chuck McKinley of Port Washington, N.Y, who ousted an ailing Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, 9-11, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Brazil's Maria Bueno, seeded No. 2 behind Miss Smith, led the women into the round of 16. She defeated Janine Leffrig of France, 6-2, 6-4.

Other seeded players advancing were Mrs. Anny Haydon Jones of England, No. 3, who beat Roberta Alison of Alexander City, Ala., 6-4, 6-1; Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., No. 5, easy winner over teen-aged Kathleen Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-0, 6-2, and seventh-seeded Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, 6-1, 6-4 victor over Alice Luthy Tym of Peoria, Ill.

Malicious Pulls Upset, Kelso Finishes Fourth

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Favorites in Labor Day's richest horse races took a terrific beating Monday but the tracks and state treasuries reaped a golden harvest as 391,148 fans sent $25,786,759 pouring through the pari mutuel machines, a near record, at 23 tracks.

Following up Saturday's debacle when Hail to All ran second to Pass the Word in the $280,000 New Hampshire Sweepstakes Classic at Rockingham Park and the highly regarded Native Street finished fifth as Silver Bright won the $208,765 Lassie at Arlington Park, the favorites in Monday's two richest races also found themselves outside looking in.

Kelso, champion American thoroughbred the last five years, just about faded out of the 1965 title picture when he could do no better than fourth as Malicious scored a three-length front running victory in the $108,200 Aqueduct Stakes at Aqueduct and paid $10.20.

Malicious earned $70,330 while Kelso, finishing out of the money for only the ninth time in 61 career starts, had to be content with $5,410. The small end of the purse boosted his world money-leading bankroll to $1,959,554.

Far more of a surprise than the defeat of Kelso was the result of the $113,600 Washington Handicap at Arlington Park. Take Over, paying $152.20 for $2, was the winner in a photo finish with Chieftain and Gallant Romeo.

Daugherty Not Smiling

Spartans Hit By Injuries To Two Chief Prospects

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Coach Duffy Daugherty was the unsmiling Irishman of Michigan State University today with the football season only 11 days off and two of his brightest stars hobbled by injuries.

A couple of casual mishaps this week temporarily shelved Michigan State's greatest pass receiving prospect, swift Gene Washington, and Daugherty's finest defensive back, George Webster.

Ironically, Washington suffered a fractured finger while taking a practice pass from quarterback Steve Juday. This pair is tabbed to make Spartan aerial history.

"It's really incongruous," said Daugherty, whose club is expected to run in the middle of the Big Ten pack. "These two guys played catch with the ball several thousand times in informal workouts of their own this summer.

"I don't know how long it will take Washington to get used to a protective splint on the finger—whether he can catch the ball at all." grimaced Daugherty, who usually strolls the funny side of the street.

Daugherty was equally dismayed by a pulled leg muscle decking the 204-pound Webster, "rover" linebacker and bulwark of the Spartan defense.

"He was just running and pulled up badly lame," said Daugherty. "If he is sidelined even a couple of weeks, we'll be in trouble."

Even in good health, Washington, who caught 35 passes for a Spartan record last fall as a sophomore, and the hustling Webster, a converted end, can solve only part of Daugherty's problems.

With a squad including no fewer than 11 sophomores on the first two offensive units, Michigan State must run a wicked schedule gauntlet.

It includes successive mid-season tangles with Michigan, Ohio Statae and Purdue, top-rated contenders, not to mention a Nov. 6 visit to Iowa.

Daugherty's ground game will sizzle only if he replaces graduated Dick Gordon, who gained more than half of Michigan State's rushing yardage in an over-all 4-5 season and sixth-place Big Ten finish in 3-4.

Best free - wheelers probably will be halfback Clinton Jones and the latest Hawaiian contribution to Michigan State, Bob Apisa, a 205-pound soph fullback from Honolulu.

Browns Show No Injuries With Packers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns apparently came out of Saturday night's 30-14 beating at the hands of Green Bay with nothing injured but their pride, and should be in good shape physically for their final exhibition tuneup Saturday night in Akron against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

John Wooten, veteran offensive guard who missed the Packers' game because of a thigh injury, is expected to resume work this week and should be ready for the Steelers.

The Packers were not so lucky. Bob Jeter, who was carried off the field with a cracked rib after colliding with Leroy Kelly, is expected to be out at least a week.

The Browns check into their new quarters on the Western Reserve University campus today to look at movies in preparation for the Pittsburgh game.

The squad now numbers 47, but this must be reduced to 43 by 4 p.m. today. The Browns are not required to make public the names of those cut, and those placed on waivers can be withdrawn if they are claimed by another team.

'Day Of Judgment' In Magistrate's Court

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The Day of Judgment seemed at hand as the orderly called the roll at Klerksdorp Magistrates Court.

Jeremiah and Jericho took the oath as Detective Thomas testified against a man called Solomon.

Zachariah and Zephemiah followed them into the witness box giving evidence in a case where John Peter was accusing Israel of stealing his cattle.

There was a half-hour delay while the building was searched for someone called Handbrake. Habakkuk, helping in the search, eventually realized it was him.

The day finished with Isaac and Elias being accused of assaulting Luke. They had been arrested by a policeman called Adam.

TROPHIES WERE presented to the winner and runnerup in the annual Junior Golf Tournament at the East Liverpool Country Club. Mrs. Virginia Hocking, (left) co-chairman of the Ladies Golf Association, which sponsored the tourney, is shown presenting the runnerup trophy to Winnie Cloran, (center) and championship award to Janie Patterson. In the boys division, Andy Petrick was first with Steve Petrick, runnerup.

Youths Keep Quiet Holiday At Riot Sites

By The Associated Press

The long Labor Day weekend ended with comparative peace and quiet at vacation spots previously troubled by youth rioting. Hundreds of arrests were made, but mostly for minor violations. Property damage was practically nil.

At Lake George, N.Y., nearly 300 persons were arrested, mainly for violating a local ordinance that prohibits carrying open beer cans in the street.

Robert Caldwell, mayor of the Adirondack Mountain resort, termed this Labor Day weekend "the most trouble-free in recent years." Caldwell said the biggest problem was traffic as nearly 10,000 persons crowded into the area, which has a permanent population of 1,000.

During the Labor Day holiday at Lake George in 1961 several hundred youths battled police until dispersed by fire hoses.

At Rockaway Beach, Mo., scene of disorders over the Fourth of July weekend, Sheriff Lyman Cardwell said Sunday night: "It's awful quiet here. All the traffic has left. We have here a ghost town."

There were 15 arrests, Cardwell said, for public drunkenness and illegal possession of intoxicating beverages, but he said that number was subnormal for even a nonholiday.

"Over Independence Day there were 186 convictions on similar charges," the sheriff said.

At North Beach, Md., a total of 52 arrests were made over the weekend, mostly on disorderly conduct charges.

Local police, aided by state troopers, broke up a series of brawls on Sunday involving about 1,800 motorcyclists jamming the Chesapeake Bay resort for races at a nearby track.

Sunday night quiet prevailed. Police Chief Gerald Ray said, "Most of them were from out of state and have gone."

At Russells Point, Ohio — where rioting marred the Fourth of July weekend, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars damage — police were ready with roadblocks on routes leading into town.

There were about 40 "preventive" arrests, including confiscation of fireworks and some 22-caliber pistols.

School Bus Provides Journey Of 200 Yards

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's only 200 yards between the two schools but students won't have to walk that distance in the rain or cold weather.

They'll make the trip in a bus which the Board of Education plans to buy for about $4,600. And it will be the first school bus in the city system.

Students at Gottschalk Junior High School will be carried to Iroquois High for classes in physical education, industrial arts and music.

Ralston Faces Stiff Task In National Tennis Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y (AP)—Dennis Ralston faces Davis Cup teammate Frank Froehling today in the feature match of the National Tennis Championships—and it's a pressure assignment for America's No. 1 player.

"They say I can't win the big ones," Ralston said. "That's not true, of course, but it looks like I'm going to have to prove it. I've got a tough draw from here on out."

The 23-year-old temperamental ace from Bakersfield, Calif., admitted that he had his sights set on one goal — a shot at defending champion Roy Emerson in the finals.

Ralston, a disappointing loser to little-known Juan Gisbert in the Davis Cup matches with Spain recently, was stung by Davis Cup captain George MacCall's criticism that he couldn't win important matches.

Matches today complete the round of 16 in both the men's and women's divisions.

In addition to the Ralston-Froehling match, headliners send young Chuck Pasarell of Puerto Rico, upset winner over the second - seeded Stolle, against Keith Jennings of New Canaan, Conn., and Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y against Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli.

Margaret Smith of Australia, Wimbledon champion and No. 1 seed, plays Cecilia Martinez of San Francisco. The top U.S hope, Nancy Richey of Dallas, seeded No. 3, goes against Peachy Kellmeyer of Charleston, W.Va

Emerson looked almost unbeatable Monday in smashing 18-year-old Cliff Richey, Nancy's kid brother, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0, winning the last 10 games in a row.

He was joined in the fourth round by Spain's fourth-seeded Manuel Santana, who beat James Osborne of Honolulu 6-4, 6-4, 6-3; fifth-seeded Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles, winner over King Lambert of Bronxville, N.Y., 6-1, 6-3, 6-4, and Chuck McKinley of Port Washington, N.Y, who ousted an ailing Clark Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, 9-11, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

Brazil's Maria Bueno, seeded No. 2 behind Miss Smith, led the women into the round of 16. She defeated Janine Leffrig of France, 6-2, 6-4.

Other seeded players advancing were Mrs. Anny Haydon Jones of England, No. 3, who beat Roberta Alison of Alexander City, Ala., 6-4, 6-1; Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., No. 5, easy winner over teen-aged Kathleen Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-0, 6-2, and seventh-seeded Carole Graebner of Beechwood, Ohio, 6-1, 6-4 victor over Alice Luthy Tym of Peoria, Ill.

'Day Of Judgment' In Magistrate's Court

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The Day of Judgment seemed at hand as the orderly called the roll at Klerksdorp Magistrates Court.

Jeremiah and Jericho took the oath as Detective Thomas testified against a man called Solomon.

Zachariah and Zephemiah followed them into the witness box giving evidence in a case where John Peter was accusing Israel of stealing his cattle.

There was a half-hour delay while the building was searched for someone called Habakkuk, helping in the search, eventually realized it was him.

The day finished with Isaac and Elias being accused of assaulting Luke. They had been arrested by a policeman called Adam.

Youths Keep Quiet Holiday At Riot Sites

By The Associated Press

The long Labor Day weekend ended with comparative peace and quiet at vacation spots previously troubled by youth rioting. Hundreds of arrests were made, but mostly for minor violations. Property damage was practically nil.

At Lake George, N.Y., nearly 300 persons were arrested, mainly for violating a local ordinance that prohibits carrying open beer cans in the street.

Robert Caldwell, mayor of the Adirondack Mountain resort, termed this Labor Day weekend "the most trouble-free in recent years." Caldwell said the biggest problem was traffic as nearly 10,000 persons crowded into the area, which has a permanent population of 1,000.

During the Labor Day holiday at Lake George in 1961 several hundred youths battled police until dispersed by fire hoses.

At Rockaway Beach, Mo., scene of disorders over the Fourth of July weekend, Sheriff Lyman Cardwell said Sunday night: "It's awful quiet here. All the traffic has left. We have here a ghost town."

There were 15 arrests, Cardwell said, for public drunkenness and illegal possession of intoxicating beverages, but he said that number was subnormal for even a nonholiday.

"Over Independence Day there were 186 convictions on similar charges," the sheriff said.

At North Beach, Md., a total of 52 arrests were made over the weekend, mostly on disorderly conduct charges.

Local police, aided by state troopers, broke up a series of brawls on Sunday involving about 1,800 motorcyclists jamming the Chesapeake Bay resort for races at a nearby track.

Sunday night quiet prevailed. Police Chief Gerald Ray said, "Most of them were from out of state and have gone."

At Russells Point, Ohio — where rioting marred the Fourth of July weekend, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars damage — police were ready with roadblocks on routes leading into town.

There were about 40 "preventive" arrests, including confiscation of fireworks and some 22-caliber pistols.

School Bus Provides Journey Of 200 Yards

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's only 200 yards between the two schools but students won't have to walk that distance in the rain or cold weather.

They'll make the trip in a bus, which the Board of Education plans to buy for about $4,600. And it will be the first school bus in the city system.

Students at Gottschalk Junior High School will be carried to Iroquois High for classes in physical education, industrial arts and music.

Browns Show No Injuries With Packers

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns apparently came out of Saturday night's 30-14 beating at the hands of Green Bay with nothing injured but their pride, and should be in good shape physically for their final exhibition tuneup Saturday night in Akron against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

John Wooten, veteran offensive guard who missed the Packers' game because of a thigh injury, is expected to resume work this week and should be ready for the Steelers.

The Packers were not so lucky. Bob Jeter, who was carried off the field with a cracked rib after colliding with Leroy Kelly, is expected to be out at least a week.

The Browns check into their new quarters on the Western Reserve University campus today to look at movies in preparation for the Pittsburgh game.

The squad now numbers 47, but this must be reduced to 43 by 4 p.m. today. The Browns are not required to make public the names of those cut, and those placed on waivers can be withdrawn if they are claimed by another team.

Educators Seek Solution

Pupils Face Science Gap

The curricula reformers changing the course of U.S. education have concentrated much of their efforts on the teaching of science. There has not been unanimous acceptance of their work as the following first of five articles on the revolution in the 3Rs shows.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The house of science the curricula reformers have built for the nation's high schools may have been set down on very shaky foundations.

There's too big a gap between the general science that most youngsters get in junior high and the biology, chemistry and physics that many of them now study in senior high, says Dr. Uri Haber-Schaim.

Haber-Schaim is directing the development of a new introductory physical science course. It is aimed primarily at the 8th and 9th grades, and its goal is to give the pupils a better preparation for what's to follow. The development is part of a revolution in the 3Rs now going on in U.S. schools.

"That greatest handicap faced by science teachers is the new curricula is that most pupils in senior high school have no experience in observations, no basic laboratory skills, no knowledge of how to apply elementary mathematics to experimental results," Haber-Schaim said.

"They also lack the ability to correlate an abstract idea with a concrete situation. Often they have no idea of orders of magnitude, no feeling for approximation, no ability to judge what is important and what is not."

The course is one of many curriculum improvement projects sponsored by Educational Services, Inc., a nonprofit educational organization originally established in 1958 to handle the new high school physics program.

The course, which may be ready for commercial distribution next year, will take the student up to the beginning study of the atom.

"The course will be strong in laboratory work," Haber-Schaim said. "It will be strong in 'doing,' using the eyes and ears and 10 fingers.

"If the schools have a good lab, so much the better. But it can be done with a flat-top table, and one sink per class.

"This course also will teach English, although that is not its primary function.

"Kids today can't seem to read a short, concise paragraph and know what it means. They have trouble answering a question which requires more than a one-word answer.

"In this course they'll have to keep complete, legible notes when they do an experiment — they may have to refer in March to an experiment they did in October."

Haber-Schaim said, "Most textbooks are written by looking at other textbooks. Once a false idea gets in, you can't get it out. This course is being written without another textbook around."

A published description of the new course quotes this comment from Thomas J. Dillon, a teacher in the Concord-Carlisle High School in Concord, Mass.:

"The major source of dissatisfaction with our general science course has been with the heroic attempt on the part of our textbooks to cover a little bit of all the sciences from Astronomy to Zoology.

"As a result, we found ourselves saying almost nothing about everything, often repeating 7th- and 8th-grade materials, covering worn-out trivia and — perhaps what is most important — becoming increasingly aware that we were really not preparing our students for chemistry and physics."

Brass-tacks work on the course got under way just two years ago. Eight teachers tried the program in pilot projects during the 1963-64 school year. After it was revised on the basis of their reports, 55 teachers tried it last school year.

After one more year of testing, Haber-Schaim said, the course materials will be ready for general use in the fall of 1966.

Ends Texas Weekend

President Keeps Eye On Kashmir

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)— President Johnson ends a holiday stay at his ranch today, his attention focused on the fighting in Pakistan and India.

Johnson has been keeping in close touch with the situation through telephone conferences with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and others.

Spending much of Labor Day at his desk — before and after an auto tour of his ranch properties — Johnson signed the $3.3- billion foreign aid authorization bill.

In line with congressional recommendations, he announced an administration review of aid efforts with the aim of making them more effective.

He said he expects to ask Congress next year to authorize a multiyear program, rather than seek again a year's spending authority.

The spending authorization he signed covers the fiscal year that began July 1. The money still must be appropriated.

Johnson also signed a bill paving the way for establishment of a library to house his official papers when he leaves office. This will be built on the University of Texas campus in Austin, 50 miles east of here.

The President telephoned birthday greetings to Miss Ida Fuller, 91, in Ludlow, Vt. Miss Fuller in 1939 became the first American to receive a monthly Social Security benefit check.

Johnson arranged a further birthday surprise, sending her the first check to cover retroactive increases in benefits voted recently by Congress.

Monday night, the President went out on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson in his 18-foot speedboat. The sky was cloudy and few boats were in sight. A security helicopter hovered over the President's boat.

Later, the President took the wheel of an automobile that operates both on land and water and drove it briefly on the lake.

The President's press office made these further announcements today:

— Rapid progress is being made in converting former President Herbert Hoover's birthplace at West Branch, Iowa, into a national shrine. Johnson on Aug. 12 signed legislation making this a national historical site.

— Johnson has been told by the Budget Bureau that economy programs by civilian agencies in the 18 months ended June 30 produced savings of more than $1.1 billion. He said, "There is always room for further improvement."

— The 12 months ended June 30 produced the worst spate of natural disasters on record. Johnson declared 29 major disasters during the period and allocated $86 million of disaster relief funds — nearly double the amount earmarked in the preceding 12 months.

— The now-defunct Area Redevelopment Agency loaned and spent nearly $1.2 billion from its establishment on May 1, 1961 until last Tuesday when it was succeeded by the new Economic Development Administration.

— John L. McGruder, director of the Office of Emergency Transportation, will represent the United States at a conference in Paris Sept. 21, on the emergency role of civil aviation in the 15 countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

People In News

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon and comedian Peter Sellers have taken part in a slapstick homemade movie, the London Daily Sketch reported Monday.

The report said the princess and her husband did a song and dance routine.

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, described in "very good spirits and enjoying himself," had two parties Monday in celebration of his 77th birthday.

In the afternoon, the 24 Kennedy grandchildren sang, "Happy Birthday" and gave their presents to the father of President John F. Kennedy.

In the evening, the Kennedy children, along with Kennedy's wife, Rose, gave another party.

Among those on hand were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, Steven Smith and their wives.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—U.S. Special Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Monday night that most Americans stand squarely behind President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The 74-year-old roving envoy told newsmen that the President's policies "are supported by an overwhelming majority of Congress and an overwhelming majority of the American people. Some accounts suggesting differently in the press are just not true."

CHAPMAN, Kan. (AP)—Capt. Joe Engle, at 33 the nation's youngest astronaut, was honored Monday by his hometown of Chapman.

Hilton Sells Cleveland Hotel To New Yorkers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hilton Hotels Corp. has sold the Statler Hilton here to two New York men, but will continue to manage it.

The sale to Otto Marx Jr. and John V. Summerline was announced Monday. The price was not disclosed. Marx is president of the Paribas Corp. in New York and Summerline is associated with that firm.

The purchase included the 53-year-old building and its contents. The purchasers also assumed the ground lease on the property.

Rains Cause Omaha Flood

OMAHA (AP)—Thousands of Omahans tumbled out of their homes in the early morning hours today and fled for safety as rains of up to seven inches sent creeks over their banks and flooded lowlands in a large residential section of West Omaha.

More than a dozen evacuation centers were set up within hours to care for the displaced householders and law enforcement agencies mobilized volunteers to help route traffic and rescue stranded persons.

There were no immediate reports of flood deaths.

At 12:26 a.m. the Weather Bureau advised the Douglas County sheriff's office to evacuate residents of the Big and Little Papio Creek basins.

The sirens sounded the evacuation warning shortly afterward.

There was a constant threat to east - west traffic through Omaha as the creeks swirled up to and sometimes over bridges and viaducts.

Review Planned By Union Leader On Phone Parley

CLEVELAND (AP) — The status of wage negotiations now under way between the Communications Workers of America and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will be assessed by Joseph A. Beirne, international president of the union, in a visit here today.

The union is discussing wages with Ohio Bell under a reopener in a three-year contract signed in 1963. Similar talks are being held with Bell system companies in other states.

Beirne's visit here gave rise to speculation that the negotiations in Cleveland might set a nationwide wage pattern for nearly a million communications workers.

The contract must be temporarily renewed if agreement on wages is not reached here by midnight next Monday. If this is not done, the entire contract expires.

Henry Taylor Named Cuban Exiles' Liaison

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A diplomat with long experience in Latin America is the new U.S. "ambassador" to the Cuban exile colony.

Henry L. Taylor, until recently political officer at the embassy in Panama, has assumed the post of coordinator of Cuban affairs here.

Taylor said his office really isn't "in any sense an embassy," though it's often called that and some of its functions parallel those of a diplomatic mission.

Mrs. Johnson Begins Trip To Wyoming Site

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)— Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson set out today on a speechmaking, sightseeing trip to Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming.

Joined by her daughter Lynda, Mrs. Johnson will spend four days at Jackson Hole, Wyo., and take part in the dedication of gardens at the University of Denver on her way back to Washington Friday.

Ohio Lists 21 Road Deaths Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

Deaths on Ohio's highways remained below predicted levels for the Labor Day weekend, with 21 reported.

State Highway Safety Department officials had predicted 28 persons would die ir traffic over the 78-hour weekend.

Among the most serious accidents, a collision Sunday killed three persons near East Liverpool. Two others died Sunday in a crash in Paulding County.

The death toll rose slowly as the holiday weekend began Friday and then jumped sharply Sunday. As vacationers rolled homeward on Monday, fatalities were relatively few.

A drowning and eight deaths from miscellaneous causes pushed the over-all accidental death toll to 30.

The most recent fatalities:

Sunday

Diane K. Heimlinger, 18, Wapakoneta, when her car smashed into a semi-truck that had pulled out in front of her on an Auglaize County road.

John T. Hunt, 20, Warrensville Heights, Cuyahoga County, when his car smashed into a tree in Shaker Heights.

Gregory S. Tooley, 19, Franklin, when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car on a Warren County road and it struck a tree.

Calvin Flickinger, 21, Girard, in a Youngstown hospital shortly after his car ran into a sign and a utility pole in Girard.

Robert D. Moore, 61, farmhand, killed in a fire at a bunkhouse on a farm near Clyde, east of Fremont.

Mrs Benjamin Koret, 44, Shaker Heights, in a two - car crash in Shaker Heights.

Janet Long, 26, of near Apple Creek, in a two-car collision at an intersection near Orrville in Wayne County.

Mrs. Charles Moore, 39, her son, David, 10 months, and Rosalind Richards, 16, all of East Liverpool, in a collision on Ohio 7 near East Liverpool.

Otis Johnson, 49, and his wife, Flonnie, 46, both of Detroit, in a two-car crash on U.S. 24 near Antwerp in Paulding County.

Paul Mendenhall, 52, Xenia, was struck by a freight train and killed while walking along tracks just east of Xenia.

Steve Vitillo, 55, of Warren, killed in a collision of automobiles on a county road in Mahoning County.

Monday

Jiles Perry, 33, Cleveland, died in a hospital Monday of injuries received Sunday when his mail truck went out of control, overturned and caught fire in Cleveland.

Richard Rawlings, 55, Pomeroy, died in Meigs General Hospital of injuries received Sunday in a fall down a flight of stairs.

John R. Stickney, 75, Mansfield, when the car he was driving collided with another automobile north of Mansfield on U. S. 30.

Dallas Schultz, 54, Reedsville, when car went over an embankment on Ohio 681 about 16 miles north of Pomeroy, also injuring two teen-age boys.

Charles M. Souch, 27, Milford Center, when car he was a passenger in went over a Union County road near Milford Center. Two young men were injured.

2 Blasts Injure 45 In Milwaukee Residential Area

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — At least 45 persons were injured as two explosions splintered homes in a near-downtown neighborhood Monday night.

The second blast sprayed glass and debris on a crowd of spectators which had gathered after the first explosion crumpled a two-story frame home.

Fire Chief James R. Moher said escaping natural gas probably caused the blasts. A Milwaukee Gas Light Co. spokesman said instruments detected a concentration of gas in the air.

There were no fatalities. Most of the injured were released after treatment and all those hospitalized were listed in satisfactory condition.

Marines Weigh Use Of Draftees To Meet Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps is seriously — and reluctantly — considering use of the draft for the first time since the Korean war, defense sources said today.

The corps, which considers itself an elite organization, would rather not resort to the draft.

Although recruiting is up, there is a question whether the Marines can get the 65,000 recruits they will need without taking some draftees.

The corps said no decision has been made on whether to dip into Selective Service for the first time since May 1952 — more than 13 years ago.

Last month enlistment of young men in the Marine Corps increased by 20 per cent, an experience shared by the other armed services in the wake of President Johnson's action doubling monthly draft quotas.

If the level of about 5,600 new recruits could be sustained over the full fiscal year ending next July 1, the Marines could fill their requirements wholly with volunteers. It would be a tight fit, however.

The Marines need about 35,000 new men to make up for normal losses through attrition.

In addition, the corps has been authorized to increase by 30,000 men above the previously planned 193,000.

Randolph Urges Job Rights Push

NEW YORK (AP)—Negro labor leader A. Philip Randolph has called on the civil rights movement to put more emphasis on employment.

Randolph, head of the American Labor Council, told a Harlem Labor Day program the civil rights movement is on its way to "triumphant success."

"Now I think we have got to turn our attention from conventional civil rights" to organizing "the unorganized black workers of this country and the unorganized white workers as well," he said. "Give them the tool of organization and they will lift themselves out of poverty."

Toll In Canada Rises To 103 For Labor Day

TORONTO (AP)—At least 103 persons died in accidents in Canada during the Labor Day weekend, two more than last year and the second highest total on record.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, showed 67 persons died in traffic accidents, eight short of the Canadian Highway Safety Council prediction of 75.

There also were 10 drownings, 6 fire deaths and 20 deaths in unclassified mishaps.

Quebec Hotel Struck By Staff On Pay Issue

QUEBEC (AP)—One of Canada's most famous hotels, the Chateau Frontenac, was reduced to 200 guests and a skeleton staff today by a strike of about 500 employes demanding higher wages.

Some 800 guests left the massive castle high above the St. Lawrence River before the strike began Monday. The hotel refused all reservations but said any guests willing to put up with the reduced service were welcome to stay.

4 Indonesians Saved As British Sink Craft

SINGAPORE (AP)—A British navy patrol ship fired on and sank an Indonesian boat which tried to break through the marine security screen around Singapore today.

Four Indonesians were rescued unhurt. They told Singapore police they fled from the nearby Indonesian-owned Riouw Islands because they could not stand the economic conditions in Indonesia.

Iraq Plans New Push Upon Kurd Tribesmen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Iraqi government is expected to step up its campaign against the rebellious Kurds in northern Iraq following appointment of Brig. Aref Abdel Razak as premier.

Baghdad Radio announced that Premier Taher Yahya had resigned and Razak, chief of the air force, had formed a new government at the request of President Abdel Salam Aref.

Educators Seek Solution

Pupils Face Science Gap

The curricula reformers changing the course of U.S. education have concentrated much of their efforts on the teaching of science. There has not been unanimous acceptance of their work as the following first of five articles on the revolution in the 3Rs shows.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The house of science the curricula reformers have built for the nation's high schools may have been set down on very shaky foundations.

There's too big a gap between the general science that most youngsters get in junior high and the biology, chemistry and physics that many of them now study in senior high, says Dr. Uri Haber-Schaim.

Haber-Schaim is directing the development of a new introductory physical science course. It is aimed primarily at the 8th and 9th grades, and its goal is to give the pupils a better preparation for what's to follow. The development is part of a revolution in the 3Rs now going on in U.S. schools.

"That greatest handicap faced by science teachers is the new curricula is that most pupils in senior high school have no experience in observations, no basic laboratory skills, no knowledge of now to apply elementary mathematics to experimental results," Haber-Schaim said.

"They also lack the ability to correlate an abstract idea with a concrete situation. Often they have no idea of orders of magnitude, no feeling for approximation, no ability to judge what is important and what is not."

The course is one of many curriculum improvement projects sponsored by Educational Services, Inc., a nonprofit educational organization originally established in 1958 to handle the new high school physics program.

The course, which may be ready for commercial distribution next year, will take the student up to the beginning study of the atom.

"The course will be strong in laboratory work," Haber-Schaim said. "It will be strong in 'doing,' using the eyes and ears and 10 fingers.

"If the schools have a good lab, so much the better. But it can be done with a flat-top table, and one sink per class.

"This course also will teach English, although that is not its primary function.

"Kids today can't seem to read a short, concise paragraph and know what it means. They have trouble answering a question which requires more than a one-word answer.

"In this course they'll have to keep complete, legible notes when they do an experiment — they may have to refer in March to an experiment they did in October."

Haber-Schaim said, "Most textbooks are written by looking at other textbooks. Once a false idea gets in, you can't get it out. This course is being written without another textbook around."

A published description of the new course quotes this comment from Thomas J. Dillon, a teacher in the Concord-Carlisle High School in Concord, Mass.:

"The major source of dissatisfaction with our general science course has been with the heroic attempt on the part of our textbooks to cover a little bit of all the sciences from Astronomy to Zoology.

"As a result, we found ourselves saying almost nothing about everything, often repeating 7th- and 8th-grade materials, covering worn-out trivia and — perhaps what is most important — becoming increasingly aware that we were really not preparing our students for chemistry and physics."

Brass-tacks work on the course got under way just two years ago. Eight teachers tried the program in pilot projects during the 1963-64 school year. After it was revised on the basis of their reports, 55 teachers tried it last school year.

After one more year of testing, Haber-Schaim said, the course materials will be ready for general use in the fall of 1966.

Ends Texas Weekend

President Keeps Eye On Kashmir

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)— President Johnson ends a holiday stay at his ranch today, his attention focused on the fighting in Pakistan and India.

Johnson has been keeping in close touch with the situation through telephone conferences with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and others.

Spending much of Labor Day at his desk — before and after an auto tour of his ranch properties — Johnson signed the $3.3- billion foreign aid authorization bill.

In line with congressional recommendations, he announced an administration review of aid efforts with the aim of making them more effective.

He said he expects to ask Congress next year to authorize a multiyear program, rather than seek again a year's spending authority.

The spending authorization he signed covers the fiscal year that began July 1. The money still must be appropriated.

Johnson also signed a bill paving the way for establishment of a library to house his official papers when he leaves office. This will be built on the University of Texas campus in Austin, 50 miles east of here.

The President telephoned birthday greetings to Miss Ida Fuller, 91, in Ludlow, Vt. Miss Fuller in 1939 became the first American to receive a monthly Social Security benefit check.

Johnson arranged a further birthday surprise, sending her the first check to cover retroactive increases in benefits voted recently by Congress.

Monday night, the President went out on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson in his 18-foot speedboat. The sky was cloudy and few boats were in sight. A security helicopter hovered over the President's boat.

Later, the President took the wheel of an automobile that operates both on land and water and drove it briefly on the lake.

The President's press office made these further announcements today:

— Rapid progress is being made in converting former President Herbert Hoover's birthplace at West Branch, Iowa, into a national shrine. Johnson on Aug. 12 signed legislation making this a national historical site.

— Johnson has been told by the Budget Bureau that economy programs by civilian agencies in the 18 months ended June 30 produced savings of more than $1.1 billion. He said, "There is always room for further improvement."

— The 12 months ended June 30 produced the worst spate of natural disasters on record. Johnson declared 29 major disasters during the period and allocated $86 million of disaster relief funds — nearly double the amount earmarked in the preceding 12 months.

— The now-defunct Area Redevelopment Agency loaned and spent nearly $1.2 billion from its establishment on May 1, 1961 until last Tuesday when it was succeeded by the new Economic Development Administration.

— John L. McGruder, director of the Office of Emergency Transportation, will represent the United States at a conference in Paris Sept. 21, on the emergency role of civil aviation in the 15 countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Rains Cause Omaha Flood

OMAHA (AP)—Thousands of Omahans tumbled out of their homes in the early morning hours today and fled for safety as rains of up to seven inches sent creeks over their banks and flooded lowlands in a large residential section of West Omaha.

More than a dozen evacuation centers were set up within hours to care for the displaced householders and law enforcement agencies mobilized volunteers to help route traffic and rescue stranded persons.

There were no immediate reports of flood deaths.

At 12:26 a.m. the Weather Bureau advised the Douglas County sheriff's office to evacuate residents of the Big and Little Papio Creek basins.

The sirens sounded the evacuation warning shortly afterward.

There was a constant threat to east - west traffic through Omaha as the creeks swirled up to and sometimes over bridges and viaducts.

Review Planned By Union Leader On Phone Parley

CLEVELAND (AP) — The status of wage negotiations now under way between the Communications Workers of America and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. will be assessed by Joseph A. Beirne, international president of the union, in a visit here today.

The union is discussing wages with Ohio Bell under a reopener in a three-year contract signed in 1963. Similar talks are being held with Bell system companies in other states.

Beirne's visit here gave rise to speculation that the negotiations in Cleveland might set a nationwide wage pattern for nearly a million communications workers.

The contract must be temporarily renewed if agreement on wages is not reached here by midnight next Monday. If this is not done, the entire contract expires.

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon and comedian Peter Sellers have taken part in a slapstick homemade movie, the London Daily Sketch reported Monday.

The report said the princess and her husband did a song and dance routine.

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, described in "very good spirits and enjoying himself," had two parties Monday in celebration of his 77th birthday.

In the afternoon, the 24 Kennedy grandchildren sang, "Happy Birthday" and gave their presents to the father of President John F. Kennedy.

In the evening, the Kennedy children, along with Kennedy's wife, Rose, gave another party.

Among those on hand were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, Steven Smith and their wives.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—U.S. Special Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Monday night that most Americans stand squarely behind President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The 74-year-old roving envoy told newsmen that the President's policies "are supported by an overwhelming majority of Congress and an overwhelming majority of the American people. Some accounts suggesting differently in the press are just not true."

CHAPMAN, Kan. (AP)—Capt. Joe Engle, at 33 the nation's youngest astronaut, was honored Monday by his hometown of Chapman.

Hilton Sells Cleveland Hotel To New Yorkers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hilton Hotels Corp. has sold the Statler Hilton here to two New York men, but will continue to manage it.

The sale to Otto Marx Jr. and John V. Summerline was announced Monday. The price was not disclosed. Marx is president of the Paribas Corp. in New York and Summerline is associated with that firm.

The purchase included the 53-year-old building and its contents. The purchasers also assumed the ground lease on the property.

Henry Taylor Named Cuban Exiles' Liaison

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A diplomat with long experience in Latin America is the new U.S. "ambassador" to the Cuban exile colony.

Henry L. Taylor, until recently political officer at the embassy in Panama, has assumed the post of coordinator of Cuban affairs here.

Taylor said his office really isn't "in any sense an embassy," though it's often called that and some of its functions parallel those of a diplomatic mission.

Long Lineup In Court

Patrol, Police Arrest 24 During Holiday Weekend

The longest lineup of defendants in at least two months faced Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today after the State Highway Patrol and East Liverpool police arrested 24 persons over the long holiday weekend.

Seventeen were cited for traffic offenses and seven more were charged with other minor misdemeanors, including intoxication. It was the longest lineup for the court since the three-day July 4th weekend.

Local officers cited five persons on charges of crashing traffic lights. The defendants are: David Wells, 1236 Harker Ave., cited at E. 5th and Washington Sts. Saturday at 11:10 p. m.; Joe Blumetti of Youngstown, arrested Monday at 1:40 p. m. at W. 5th and Monroe Sts.; David B. Moore, 1002 Washington St., Newell, cited Saturday at 8:17 p. m. at E. 5th and Washington Sts.; Henry Gaetno Jr. of Campbell, arrested Saturday at 7:03 p. m. at W. 4th and Jefferson Sts., and Melvin Callihan of 49 Hillcrest Manor, Midland, cited Saturday at 8:05 p. m. at E. 5th and Washington Sts.

Wells was fined $5 and costs today, Gaetno forfeited a $17.50 bond and Callihan, Moore and Blumetti forfeited $12.50 each.

Four persons were accused of violating speed limits. Cited were: Donald Leewayne Black, 2314 Harvey Ave., Saturday on Route 30 at Apples Corners; Frank Lucurell of Youngstown, Sunday at 6:15 p. m. on Route 7; Robert Charles Wick of Mineral Ridge, Saturday on Route 30, and Jeffery Reed, 1735 Lincoln Ave., Saturday at 12:30 a. m. on Route 7.

Wick is due in court Friday. Reed's hearing is scheduled Sept. 20.

Black's case is set next Monday. Lucurell forfeited a $27.50 appearance bond today.

Also cited in traffic cases were:

Richard Gerald Tomec, 716 Ohio Ave., Midland, cited by the patrol today at 12:30 a. m. on a charge of parking a vehicle without lights on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Jackie William Jones of Hammondsville R. D. 1, cited by the patrol Saturday at 5 p. m. on Route 30 on a charge of towing a vehicle which carried expired license plates.

Kenneth Hutchison, 1049 Rubicon St., failure to yield the right-of-way in a collision Saturday night at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts.

Robert C. Jackson, 824 Pennsylvania Ave., arrested by the patrol Sunday at 1 p. m. in Glenmoor on a charge of failure to signal a turn.

M. Genevieve Hubenthal of Harrisville, cited by the patrol Saturday on a charge of passing another vehicle over a yellow line on Route 30 at Cannons Mills.

Thomas L. Lamb of Hudson, Ohio, arrested by the patrol Saturday at 9:30 p. m. on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. He is due in court Wednesday.

William E. Johnson of Cleveland, cited Sunday at 11:30 p. m. on Route 30 by the patrol on a charge of passing over a yellow line. He posted $17.50 bond for a hearing Friday.

John Fultz, 523 Wells Hollow Rd., Wellsville, arrested Friday at 10:20 p. m. on Route 7 by the patrol on a charge of operating a car without a driver's license and failure to obey a stop sign.

Tomec forfeited $22.50; Jones was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of costs; Hutchison was fined $10 and costs, Mrs. Hubenthal forfeited $17.50 and Fultz was given a suspended 10-day jail term on the charge of driving without a license and fined $10 and costs on the charge of crashing the stop sign.

Jackson pleaded not guilty to the charge of failure to signal a turn and his hearing was set for Sept. 14.

Anna E. Scott of Clarksburg was arrested at 10:18 p. m. Saturday on W. 5th St. on charges of intoxication and indecent language and profanity. She posted $32.50 on each count.

Mrs. Scott forfeited both bonds.

Hearing Waived On Check Count; $1,500 Bond Set

Robert Heiney, 19, of Lisbon St. Ext., Glenmoor, today waived a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court on a charge of issuing a forged check Friday and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Heiney was charged specifically with presenting a fraudulent $83 check to the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw. It was drawn on the First National Bank account of the Celli Music Center, Inc., of St. Clair Ave., according to the affidavit signed by Helen Sillence, a Loblaw employe.

In waiving the hearing, Heiney pleaded not guilty and requested that his case be referred to the Grand Jury.

Capt. Robert H. Pyle said Heiney also is accused of passing 20 more forged checks in the month beginning Aug. 3. He said all were drawn on the account of the music store, where Heiney formerly was employed part-time.

Wellsville's Firemen Set '66 Homecoming

The Wellsville volunteer fire department announced today its homecoming celebration in 1966 will be June 20-25.

Heck's Amusements has been signed to provide the rides. This year's homecoming ended Saturday.

Dave Lanam was chairman.

Sun helmets worn by United States naval officers in the Pacific's Palau Islands became status symbols after the Americans left. The chiefs forbade storekeepers to sell them to commoners.

Long Lineup In Court

Patrol, Police Arrest 24 During Holiday Weekend

The longest lineup of defendants in at least two months faced Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today after the State Highway Patrol and East Liverpool police arrested 24 persons over the long holiday weekend.

Seventeen were cited for traffic offenses and seven more were charged with other minor misdemeanors, including intoxication. It was the longest lineup for the court since the three-day July 4th weekend.

Local officers cited five persons on charges of crashing traffic lights. The defendants are: David Wells, 1236 Harker Ave., cited at E. 5th and Washington Sts. Saturday at 11:10 p. m.; Joe Blumetti of Youngstown, arrested Monday at 1:40 p. m. at W. 5th and Monroe Sts.; David B. Moore, 1002 Washington St., Newell, cited Saturday at 8:17 p. m. at E. 5th and Washington Sts.; Henry Gaetno Jr. of Campbell, arrested Saturday at 7:03 p. m. at W. 4th and Jefferson Sts., and Melvin Callihan of 49 Hillcrest Manor, Midland, cited Saturday at 8:05 p. m. at E. 5th and Washington Sts.

Wells was fined $5 and costs today, Gaetno forfeited a $17.50 bond and Callihan, Moore and Blumetti forfeited $12.50 each.

Four persons were accused of violating speed limits. Cited were: Donald Leewayne Black, 2314 Harvey Ave., Saturday on Route 30 at Apples Corners; Frank Lucurell of Youngstown, Sunday at 6:15 p. m. on Route 7; Robert Charles Wick of Mineral Ridge, Saturday on Route 30, and Jeffery Reed, 1735 Lincoln Ave., Saturday at 12:30 a. m. on Route 7.

Wick is due in court Friday. Reed's hearing is scheduled Sept. 20.

Black's case is set next Monday. Lucurell forfeited a $27.50 appearance bond today.

Also cited in traffic cases were:

Richard Gerald Tomec, 716 Ohio Ave., Midland, cited by the patrol today at 12:30 a. m. on a charge of parking a vehicle without lights on the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Jackie William Jones of Hammondsville R. D. 1, cited by the patrol Saturday at 5 p. m. on Route 30 on a charge of towing a vehicle which carried expired license plates.

Kenneth Hutchison, 1049 Rubicon St., failure to yield the right-of-way in a collision Saturday night at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts.

Robert C. Jackson, 824 Pennsylvania Ave., arrested by the patrol Sunday at 1 p. m. in Glenmoor on a charge of failure to signal a turn.

M. Genevieve Hubenthal of Harrisville, cited by the patrol Saturday on a charge of passing another vehicle over a yellow line on Route 30 at Cannons Mills.

Thomas L. Lamb of Hudson, Ohio, arrested by the patrol Saturday at 9:30 p. m. on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. He is due in court Wednesday.

William E. Johnson of Cleveland, cited Sunday at 11:30 p. m. on Route 30 by the patrol on a charge of passing over a yellow line. He posted $17.50 bond for a hearing Friday.

John Fultz, 523 Wells Hollow Rd., Wellsville, arrested Friday at 10:20 p. m. on Route 7 by the patrol on a charge of operating a car without a driver's license and failure to obey a stop sign.

Tomec forfeited $22.50; Jones was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended on payment of costs; Hutchison was fined $10 and costs, Mrs. Hubenthal forfeited $17.50 and Fultz was given a suspended 10-day jail term on the charge of driving without a license and fined $10 and costs on the charge of crashing the stop sign.

Jackson pleaded not guilty to the charge of failure to signal a turn and his hearing was set for Sept. 14.

Anna E. Scott of Clarksburg was arrested at 10:18 p. m. Saturday on W. 5th St. on charges of intoxication and indecent language and profanity. She posted $32.50 on each count.

Mrs. Scott forfeited both bonds.

Hearing Waived On Check Count; $1,500 Bond Set

Robert Heiney, 19, of Lisbon St. Ext., Glenmoor, today waived a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court on a charge of issuing a forged check Friday and was bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Heiney was charged specifically with presenting a fraudulent $83 check to the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw. It was drawn on the First National Bank account of the Celli Music Center, Inc., of St. Clair Ave., according to the affidavit signed by Helen Sillence, a Loblaw employe.

In waiving the hearing, Heiney pleaded not guilty and requested that his case be referred to the Grand Jury.

Capt. Robert H. Pyle said Heiney also is accused of passing 20 more forged checks in the month beginning Aug. 3. He said all were drawn on the account of the music store, where Heiney formerly was employed part-time.

Wellsville's Firemen Set '66 Homecoming

The Wellsville volunteer fire department announced today its homecoming celebration in 1966 will be June 20-25.

Heck's Amusements has been signed to provide the rides. This year's homecoming ended Saturday.

Dave Lanam was chairman.

Sun helmets worn by United States naval officers in the Pacific's Palau Islands became status symbols after the Americans left. The chiefs forbade storekeepers to sell them to commoners.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 7, the 250th day of 1965. There are 115 days left in the year.

On this date in 1825, the Marquis de Lafayette said his last farewells to President John Quincy Adams and the Cabinet in the White House. The Frenchman was saying goodbye to the country he had come to as youth to fight in the Revolutionary War.

On this date

In 1533, Queen Elizabeth I was born.

In 1778, Daniel Boone drove back Indians attacking the fort he had built at Boonesborough, Ky.

In 1892, the first heavyweight championship fight in the United States under Marquis of Queensbury rules was held in New Orleans. James J. Corbett defeated John L. Sullivan in 21 rounds.

In 1940, London suffered its first heavy night attack in the Battle of Britain.

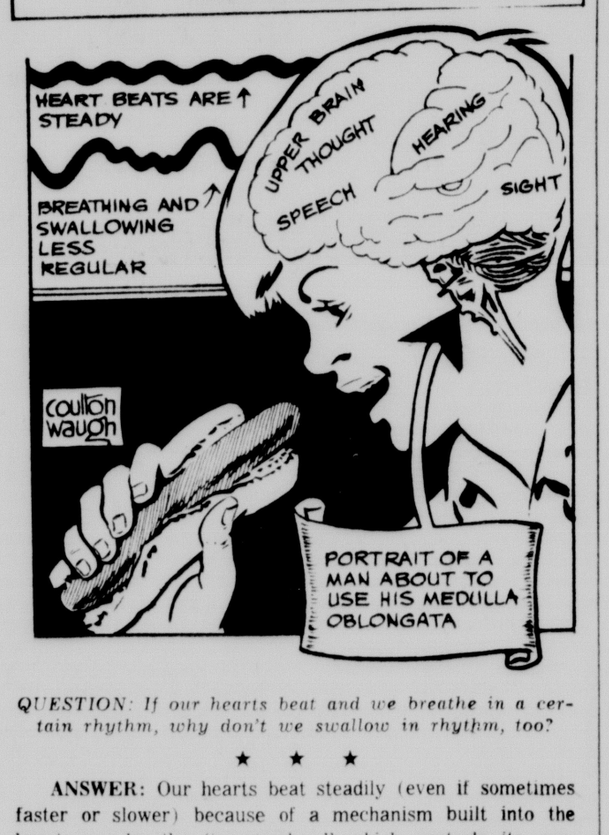

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman received the Japanese surrender papers signed aboard the battleship Missouri.

Ten years ago — Britain declared that it would not grant a Greek demand for self-determination of Cyprus; Greece replied it would submit the demand to NATO.

Five years ago — The Soviet Union announced a new code of military discipline, restoring Communist party control of the armed forces.

One year ago — President Johnson opened his election campaign with a Labor Day speech in Detroit.

Junior Editors Quiz on RHYTHM

QUESTION: If our hearts beat and we breathe in a certain rhythm, why don't we swallow in rhythm, too?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Our hearts beat steadily (even if sometimes faster or slower) because of a mechanism built into the heart muscle, the "pacemaker," which controls its contractions without our conscious knowledge. We also breathe and swallow unconsciously, although we can temporarily interfere with these activities, like taking a long breath or swallowing unnecessarily. Breathing and swallowing are controlled by a center in that amazing part of the lower brain, the medulla oblongata, which keeps a number of bodily activities going without our knowledge. The breathing rhythm works more regularly than swallowing, for our body must have a regular supply of air. We must swallow food, too—but we don't do this at exact intervals.We only swallow when something like food or saliva accumulates in the back of the mouth and must be disposed of. This starts movements going in the various parts of mouth and neck leading to swallowing, which pushes food or fluid down to the top of the tube called the esophagus. From here, rhythmic movements of the esophagus, called "peristalsis," carry the food toward the stomach.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Without food or drink in your mouth, swallow and then count the seconds until you swallow again, possibly about 25 or 30 seconds. You will find there is a rhythm in this kind of swallowing, the purpose of which is to clear the mouth of saliva.
